Katanga Army Guards Border

Lumumba Troops Near Frontier

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congo army units have moved to within 20 miles of the northern frontier of rebellious Katanga province, a Katanga army spokesman said Sunday. He announced Katanga's soldiers have advanced to the border to meet the threat.

The spokesman said the Congolese are part of Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba's forces that Saturday captured Bakwanga, capital of the so-called "mineral state" in Kasai Province. The mineral state had joined Katanga in defying Lumumba's authority.

Vowing to defend Katanga against Lumumba's forces, Premier Moise Tshombe of this mineral-rich Congo province announced he will fly to northern Katanga Monday to rally his troops.

Tshombe told a news conference the two main road and rail bridges leading south from Kasai into Katanga have been blown up and roads are mined.

The Katanga army spokesman said latest intelligence reports put troops of the Congolese army at Luputa, an agricultural center about 20 miles from the Katanga border. Luputa is on the main road and railway leading south from Luluabourg, capital of Kasai.

The spokesman said the Congolese were advance parties of a force which had moved south from Luluabourg by train to Mwene Ditu. Part of this force swung northeast and took Bakwanga. The troops that took Bakwanga were believed still to be in that diamond-mining center, he said.

Another part of the force, however, continued moving south to Luputa, he said and it was probable that patrols have reached the Katanga border.

Katanga troops flown to Kanama, about 20 miles south of the border, have been moved into the border town of Kabaze, the spokesman reported.

The spokesman said there is still a big force of Lumumba troops at Mwene Ditu. The total force Lumumba sent from Luluabourg has been estimated at 300 men.

Best estimates are that Katanga's army numbers 1,100 men.

Tshombe told reporters Katanga is determined to fight off any aggression from Lumumba forces, but declined to say whether he would make any military move to help the mineral state.

Police Prevent New Outbreaks At Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A Negro mass meeting voted Sunday to ask President Eisenhower and the Justice Department to investigate Saturday's outbreak of racial violence in this north-east Florida city.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Police kept a close watch on potential trouble spots Sunday to prevent a new outbreak of racial incidents such as those which plagued the city Saturday.

The number of sporadic incidents tapered off during the night and police said calls were much lighter than expected.

A tight security band was placed in areas where trouble had erupted.

The Duval County patrol also said the situation appeared to have eased, but patrolmen not on duty continued on a standby basis. "The only thing we can do is sit by and see how the situation develops," a patrol lieutenant said.

More than two score persons were injured in a series of clashes that began Saturday morning and continued into the night. Most of the injuries were minor, but three white persons were hurt seriously enough to require hospital treatment.

The trouble began when a group of white men armed with axes arrived in front of a downtown variety store where there have been Negro sit-in demonstrations the past 10 days.

Police Chief Luther Reynolds said the men obviously came from out of town since police didn't recognize them.

As they paraded in front of the variety store a large crowd of both Negroes and white persons gathered in Hemming Park across the street.

Gangs of teen-agers gravitated to the scene and soon a series of clashes broke out there and in nearby streets. A hectic two hours followed with police chasing from skirmish to skirmish. A number of arrests were made and police reported that more than 60 persons, both Negro and white, had been jailed on charges ranging from inciting to riot to fighting.

Earl Long Celebrates La. Victory In Hospital Bed

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — A tired old politician named Earl Long celebrated his new job as congressman from Louisiana's 8th District in a hospital bed Sunday.

Wearily and sleepily, before he moved from hotel to hospital Saturday night, "Uncle Earl," 65, told newsmen: "I don't think anything is wrong."

Adjournment Push Stalled On Wage Bill

Labor Secretary Urges Conferees Reach Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—With adjournment fever mounting, Senate-House conferees will try again Monday to clear away the biggest stumbling block, a dispute over minimum wage legislation.

And there could be a big floor fight in the Senate Monday — and the House later — over a postscript foreign aid appropriation of 190 million dollars.

But neither of these is expected as of now to keep Congress in town beyond the Labor Day weekend. With members eager to get home for political campaigning, congressional leaders plan to shelve until January any hopeless deadlock.

Mitchell Urges Compromise

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell issued a statement urging that a compromise be reached on the minimum wage dispute. He called the deadlock "indeed unfortunate."

"While the conferees apparently strive for political advantage in this election year it is the working men and women of this country who will in the long run suffer if an acceptable compromise is not reached," he said.

Mitchell said he and President Eisenhower had repeatedly asked Congress "to no avail" to extend the wage-hour law's coverage to several million additional workers. And this year, he said, they also requested that the minimum wage be increased from $1 to $1.15 an hour.

Medical Aid Vote Slated

After a Saturday session that lasted until 1:35 a.m. Sunday, the Senate put off until 2 p.m. Monday a vote on the compromise medical aid for the aged plan. The hoped-for vote Saturday was stymied by Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.), who held the floor during most of the 13 hours the Senate met.

Long's extended monologue, which he denied was a filibuster, was in protest against the compromise bill's failure to include his proposal to provide care for aged mental and tubercular patients.

The Senate finally quit under an agreement to meet again Monday at 10 a.m. and vote by 2 p.m. with the debate time divided equally between opposing sides.

Rift Points Up Need For Red Summit Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top U.S. officials said Sunday everything points to the need of a new Communist bloc summit meeting to iron out ideological differences between the Soviet Union and Red China.

But, these same officials said, reports that leaders of the Communist countries already have agreed to meet in November or December are presumably based on speculative deduction. The State Department has no solid information about such plans, officials said.

The source of the speculation, officials said, may be that Moscow or Peking, or possibly both, are believed to realize that another effort must be made to straighten out their differences and put an end to their ideological dispute.

Battered U.S. Airmen Flown To Leopoldville

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo, (AP)—Eight beaten American airmen were flown into Leopoldville Sunday night and told of being attacked by thousands of shouting, dancing Congolese at Stanleyville.

"I thought I was saying my last amen," said one. The assault occurred Saturday when a U.S. Air Force Globemaster landed at Stanleyville with a cargo of signal equipment for U.N. forces. One of the Americans said the Congolese "were positive we were Belgians."

The United States has drafted a stiff protest to the Congolese government over the outbreak of violence but Ambassador Clare H. Timberlake so far has been unable to contact Congo Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko.

Brought here with the injured Americans were two Canadians who also were injured in the violence at Stanleyville.

A coldly furious Gen. Carl von Horn, commander of U.N. forces in the Congo, put on an unprecedented show of United Nations force at Leopoldville airport when the Americans and Canadians arrived.

With a pistol at his belt, Von Horn deployed about 300 Sudanese and Ghana U.N. troops around the U.N. plane which brought in the injured men.

When a Congolese soldier showed up carrying a rifle he was briskly hustled away from the plane.

Asked about the show of force, Von Horn said: "It is because I was so mad. I promised to fire the first shot myself if there was any interference."

Ralph J. Bunche, special representative of the United Nations here, handed Bomboko a strong U.N. protest Saturday night. Bunche, who charged "flagrant violations" of the Congo's agreement with the United Nations, met with the foreign minister again Sunday.

At about the time the U.S. Globemaster was being attacked at the airport, other Congolese soldiers raided U.N. offices in Stanleyville and arrested 11 U.N. officials. The United Nations said the 11 were released by Ethiopian troops after being held an hour.

They were two Britons, a Brazilian, a Frenchman and seven Canadians.

Von Horn was the first to enter the plane bringing the Americans and Canadians here. He looked at each man and what he saw made him obviously furious.

Most of the men had bandaged heads and bruised faces. Some had black eyes and some fractured ribs. There were one or two suspected skull fractures.

The men still were in a state of shock.

Cardinal O'Hara, 72, Dies In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Cardinal O'Hara, 72, archbishop of Philadelphia and one of six American cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church, died Sunday.

The prelate succumbed in St. Francis Hospital where he had undergone surgery last Tuesday for peritonitis, an inflammation of the abdominal cavity.

Death came at 3:06 a.m. as his three sisters, priests and Sisters of Mercy, who operate the hospital, intoned prayers at the bedside of the unconscious cardinal.

The tall, frail and humble spiritual leader of 1,513,000 Roman Catholics in southeastern Pennsylvania had received the red hat symbolic of his office in Rome in December 1958. It was one of the first major acts by Pope John XXIII in his reign as pontiff.

Other American cardinals of the Church in the United States are Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles, Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, Albert Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and Aloysius Cardinal Muench of Fargo, North Dakota, now in Vatican City.

Cardinal O'Hara had been archbishop of Philadelphia for 2½ years, coming here from the Buffalo, N.Y., diocese where he had been bishop. Previously he had been president of Notre Dame University in South Bend, Ind.

His term as president of Notre Dame was but one indication of perhaps his greatest personal interest within the Church, furtherance of its educational facilities.

He was a member of the Congregation of the Holy Cross and was the first of that order to be made a cardinal.

His trip to Rome for his installation was his last abroad. The journey wearied him and for a long time after his return he remained in virtual seclusion. He moved about with little fanfare and was hospitalized twice either for rest or treatment of ailments.

Cardinal O'Hara was a gifted linguist and a student of Latin-American affairs.

His first prominence came as president of Notre Dame where he spent 30 years as student, professor, prefect of religion and finally as president. In later years he was to recall his tenure at "Our Lady's university as the Ministry closest to my heart."

Typhoon Nears Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Southern Japan was lashed by strong winds and rain Sunday night as Typhoon Della moved nearer. U.S. Air Force weathermen said Della, carrying maximum 121-mile winds, is moving north at a rate that would bring it 448 miles west-southwest of Tokyo by 3 p.m. Monday.

Victim Shot In Head; Pair Held By FBI

HERRIN, Ill. (UPI) — The battered body of teen-age waitress Mary Lily Roberts was found Sunday in an abandoned well about 10 miles from the lovers' lane where she was kidnaped last Thursday.

The body, fully clothed and bearing a bullet hole in her head and bruises on her face, was found by two sightseers and identified at the scene by the FBI and the girls' parents.

"Oh, no. That's my Lily," sobbed the mother Mrs. Raymond Roberts, after viewing the body. It was still clad in the black dress she wore Thursday morning when a gunman shot and robbed her escort in a lovers' lane area of the Crab Orchard Lake wildlife refuge.

The FBI said it found a small caliber shell which may have been used in the slaying. They said they believed the girl was shot on the farmhouse porch and her body dragged to the well.

Discovery of the girl's body ended a four-day search, but it was found by Jerry Waller, 20, and Lawrence Maddox, 22, both of Herrin, who were not members of the searching party.

Spotted Billfold

Waller and Maddox said they were "just looking over a deserted farmhouse about 1½ miles north of Herrin when they spotted a billfold on the porch containing two dollar bills and the identification of John Bryant, 20, the girl's escort.

The men said they noticed blood stains on the porch and then moved through towering weeds along the house before they saw the body of the 17-year-old girl at the bottom of the well.

The farm, in an area called Mitchell's Lake, in Williamson County, has not been occupied for about three years, authorities said. It is often used by picnickers.

Mrs. Roberts, near collapse, was helped back to a seat in the sheriff's car after she made the identification. Comforted by her husband, she kept repeating, "It's our girl, it's our girl."

The FBI, which entered the case Friday, and Williamson County authorities roped off the area and took plaster casts of tire marks and foot prints near the farmhouse.

Shot Near Ear

The girl's body was found about 4 p.m. and pulled from the well about two hours later.

Coroner Adolph Fluck said she had been shot below the left ear with a small caliber bullet and "it looks like she's been hit in the mouth awful hard." The body was taken to Carbondale for an autopsy.

Meantime, the FBI held two men for questioning in the slaying. One was Joseph Mattingly, 40, of St. Louis, Mo., who was picked up Sunday when he was found in a bloodstained car seven miles from the kidnapping scene.

The car contained a blood-stained sledge hammer with strands of blond hair similar to the victim's.

Joe Harry Milani, a 32-year-old unemployed construction worker of Herrin, Ill., was picked up again for questioning. Milani was questioned and released by the FBI Wednesday "as just another suspect."

Bryant, who was shot in the face trying to protect Miss Roberts, remained in critical condition in a Carbondale Hospital.

Navy Readies Ships, Men For Antarctic Expedition

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is preparing a force of men, ships and aircraft for its sixth consecutive antarctic expedition. Work will start this year on an atomic power station to provide electricity for the permanent scientific exploration of the south polar continent.

Plans for "Operation Deep Freeze 1961" were announced Sunday by Rear Adm. David M. Tyree, naval support force commander. They call for the assembling of nine ships, more than 30 aircraft and some 3,000 men to start moving southward next month.

The first American aircraft will be in New Zealand in September, ready to take off about the end of the month for the initial flight of the antarctic summer season.

Surface ships are scheduled to leave U.S. ports early in October to carry heavy provisions and some of the Navy men and civilian scientists who will replace the 198 Americans who remained at antarctic stations through the long winter there.

The National Science Foundation, which will distribute about four million dollars in support of research programs during the year, said about 120 scientists and their technical associates will spend the summer in Antarctica. Forty-three of these are expected to remain next winter—summer in the United States.

The atomic power station is to be built at McMurdo, principal base for American operations in Antarctica. When the plant is completed in the spring of 1962, its reactor - produced electricity will replace the oil-fired furnaces now used to generate power and provide heat.

Soviet, China Interference Is Condemned

Castro Delegates, Led By Roa, Walk Out Before Vote

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI)—Cuba walked out of the emergency meeting of the Organization of American States Sunday night shortly before foreign ministers approved a resolution condemning Russian-Communist Chinese interference in the Western Hemisphere.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa led the walkout after being rebuffed by the foreign ministers in his demand that the United States be condemned for "aggression" against the regime of Premier Fidel Castro.

The foreign ministers then voted overwhelmingly in favor of a seven-point resolution condemning any Communist interference in Western Hemisphere affairs.

Roa said he was leaving the conference because of failure to get any support for his accusations against the United States. He said he was returning home and "with me go the peoples of the Americas." This drew hisses and boos from the delegates.

Roa Cites U.S. Sugar Action

Colombian foreign minister Cesar Turbay Ayala, president of the conference, said that he "very much indeed" deplored Cuba's attitude. He said Roa was welcome to return if he wished.

Roa cited the United States action in cutting off Cuba's sugar quota as an example of aggression and said it was the "culmination of repeated threats, harassment and aggressive acts to which my country has been subjected by the United States."

Only Cuba voted for its motion of condemnation.

The resolution condemning Communist meddling in the Western Hemisphere was drawn up Saturday night by an 11-nation committee. It represented a victory for the United States, which had insisted that the foreign ministers take a strong stand.

Cuba Threatens U.N. Move

Cuban Under Foreign Secretary Carlos Olivares walked out of the committee meeting after voting against the first two points of the seven-point resolution. The two points contained the most direct references to Russian intervention and to Cuban acceptance of Russian aid in event of U.S. attack.

Rebuffed by other Latin American ministers, Roa promptly served notice that Cuba would take its aggression charges back to the United Nations Security Council.

In a two-minute reply, U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter summarily rejected the Cuban accusations. He repeated his offer of last week that the United States would willingly submit the allegations to an impartial investigation by an inter-American committee.

Four Of Family Die When Plane Explodes

TUPELO, Miss. (UPI) — A private plane exploded in the air and crashed in a cotton field Sunday killing four members of a Memphis, Tenn., family.

Tupelo Airport officials said that Joe E. Brown Jr., flying his wife and two children home from a weekend trip to Birmingham, Ala., only minutes before he had radioed for weather information. He made no mention of any trouble, they said.

Witnesses said the single-engine Comanche exploded about 12 miles northwest of here. "The tail came off it and the plane just nose-dived into the cotton field," said farmer Harry Crump.

Brown, his wife, 31, daughter Sherry, 12, and son David, 6, apparently died instantly when the craft plowed into the earth.

Space Chamber Record In Grasp Of Two AF Men

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two Air Force officers sealed in a steel space cabin Aug. 15 for a simulated flight to the moon are expected to break the record for such tests in another day.

Capt. William D. Habietzel, 36, and Lt. John W. Hargreaves, 30, will top the mark set last February if they are still in the tank at Brooks Air Force Base at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

Officials at the School of Aviation Medicine are confident they will be able to remain inside the 8x12-foot chamber until at least Sept. 1.

The length of their stay will depend on the men and their equipment. To date, the jet pilots and the equipment in and outside the space cabin have performed "very satisfactorily," said Dr. Billy Welch, project officer.

Survivor Tells Of Plane Crash Fatal To Three

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A plane crash that killed three persons south of here Saturday night was discovered early Sunday when the only survivor stumbled out of the Dismal Swamp.

A fisherman on the Northwest River about a mile north of the North Carolina border picked up Pfc. Robert Norton of Ft. Belvoir and took him to authorities at nearby Angler's Cove.

Norton, 24, of Canton, N.Y., had spent the night on top of the small plane after the 10 p.m. crash.

He suffered a bruise on the forehead, a gash in the side and possible broken ribs.

Killed in the crash were a Ft. Eustis, Va., soldier and two Wacs from the same base. They were Spec. 5 Robert O. Young, 26, of Newport News, Va., Pfc. Leona M. Anderson, 19, of Roosevelt, Utah; and Wac Pvt. Elizabeth N. Holland, 19, of Buffalo, N.Y.

Norton said the four had flown a plane belonging to the Ft. Eustis Flying Club from Newport News to Manteo, N.C., for a day at the beach. He said they ran into a heavy fog as they returned after dark.

At Least Five Lose Lives In Maryland Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Accidents claimed at least five lives in Maryland during the weekend, including two drownings.

Thomas D. Howard, 45, of Washington, drowned in the Patuxent River Saturday near Prince Frederick. Police said Howard and a friend, Archibald T. Vann, 30, also of Washington, rented a rowboat and went for a ride on the river, half a mile off Pott's Point.

Howard went for a swim from the boat and disappeared beneath the surface of the water. His body was recovered Sunday afternoon. Jesse Lescalette Jr., 24, a Hyattsville laboratory technician, was killed Saturday night near Bowie. State Police said Lescalette apparently lost control on a curve traveling at a high speed, glanced off a tree, skidded 92 feet, and hit a fire plug on High Bridge Road. He was pronounced dead at Prince Georges General Hospital, Cheverly.

Ozelle Briscoe of Port Republic, a 40-year-old Negro woman, died early Sunday morning in a two-car collision two miles south of Prince Frederick. The driver of the car in which she was riding—Woodrow Wallace, 47, of Port Republic—was seriously injured in the crash. State police said the Wallace car collided head-on with another driven by Benjamin F. Heights, 22, Negro, of Sunderland. Seven persons were hurt in the crash.

A Howard County man identified as Rufus Hall, about 30, Negro, of Dorsey, was killed near his home Saturday night by a hit-and-run driver. Authorities said Hall was walking along a shoulder of U. S. 1 when an eastbound car hit him.

William Holland, 7, of Newcomb, Talbot County, drowned Saturday in Oak Creek near Miles River. Police said the child was swimming with a group of youngsters when he slipped into deep water and disappeared. Volunteers and police dragged the stream but did not locate the body.

The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Holland.

Judge Fletcher Of Md. Seventh Circuit Dies

CHEVERLY, Md. (AP)—Judge John Raymond Fletcher of Maryland's Seventh Circuit Court, a former state senator from Prince Georges County, died here Saturday at the age of 60.

Judge Fletcher began his term on the bench in 1954, with an appointment by former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin. In 1956, he was elected to a 15-year term.

The judge's appointment came a month after his defeat at the polls for a new term as state senator. He had represented his district from 1950-54. Long active in state Republican politics, he had served as mayor of Cheverly from 1938 to 1945.

Judge Fletcher's career reached a high point in 1950, when he headed the Republican drive that unseated 17 Democrats from 20 local offices.

A native of Washington, the jurist was educated in District public schools, and received both bachelor's and master's law degrees from the National University Law School. He practiced law in Washington from 1929 until his appointment to the bench.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Emma Frances Fletcher, and a daughter, Miss Emily Frances Fletcher. Funeral services will be held Tuesday in Cheverly.

Powers' Wife Plans Longer Paris Stay

PARIS (AP)—Barbara Powers, wife of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, may remain in Paris until late this week, her doctor said Sunday.

Definite plans have not been made for her return to the United States, Dr. James Baugh said, although she may leave Thursday if reservations can be obtained.

Japan's Inukai Dies

TOKYO (AP)—Ken Inukai, 64, one of the architects of Japan's postwar government, died Sunday. Death was attributed to complications arising from hardening of the arteries.

Inukai was the son of Bokudo Inukai, a relatively moderate prime minister assassinated by military hotheads in 1932 when they began their rise to power before World War II.

Eight GOP Solons Give Demos Political Needle

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican Sunday credited a watchdog team of eight GOP senators with a large share of the political gains they expect to reap from the summer session of Congress.

The eight have been eager for a long time to trade political blows with the Democrats. They have chafed under a situation which allows the Democrats, who outnumber Republicans 66-34, to hold the Senate floor most of the time.

So the eager eight decided to do something about it. They organized informally, handed out general assignments to individual members, and set out to try to cut down the opposition at every turn.

Chief needleman thus far has been Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, a presidential campaign adviser to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Scott jumped on Kennedy for the latter's statement that President Eisenhower might have expressed regret to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for the U2 spy plane flight.

He charged that a Kennedy family foundation "outbid" the State Department to underwrite the cost of bringing African students to the United States—a charge that Kennedy called "unfair, distorted, malignant." He makes frequent sarcastic references to Kennedy's absences from the Senate.

Backing Scott up are Sens. Prescott Bush of Connecticut, Francis S. Case of South Dakota, Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, Hiram L. Fong of Hawaii, Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, Kenneth B. Keating of New York and John J. Williams of Delaware.

All are pledged to be ready to jump into the debate any time they get a chance to take a crack at a Democrat.

Humphrey Proposes Chemical, Biological Arms Control Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) Sunday proposed an international conference of experts on chemical, biological and radiological weapons.

The idea would be to consider the problems and possibilities of controlling dread weapons now capable of producing mass casualties.

Humphrey, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on disarmament, made the proposal in a preface to a document issued—but not necessarily endorsed—by the subcommittee. The document contained a statement that there is a probability that the threat of chemical, biological and radiological warfare may increase in a few years.

U.S. "Spies" Confess

BERLIN (AP)—The state security ministry of Communist East Germany said Sunday many persons have voluntarily owned up to being agents of the American secret service.

Last week the ministry announced the arrest of 147 persons accused of spying for the United States. At that time the ministry promised anyone who voluntarily disclosed links with American espionage organizations would not be punished.

18 Fans Suffer Food Poisoning At Orioles Game

BALTIMORE (AP)—Eighteen persons from Chambersburg, Pa., were stricken with food poisoning Sunday during the Chicago-Baltimore baseball game at Memorial Stadium.

They were occupying box seats along the third-base line when they became ill about 2:30 p.m. Dr. Erwin Mayer, Baltimore team physician who treated them at a first-aid room, said the food poisoning was traced to ham sandwiches the Pennsylvanians ate on a bus en route to Baltimore.

They were later taken to hospitals but only four were admitted.

The excursion of 22 persons, employees of the E. F. Goetz Construction Co. and members of their families, left Chambersburg on a company bus this morning. Roy Hornbaker, one of the party who escaped the illness, said Mr. and Mrs. Goetz, also in the group, supplied the food.

At the hospitals, the stomachs of those stricken were washed out and they were given intravenous fluids. Members of the group indicated they would not attempt to return home until Monday.

Gov. Tawes Sees Odds Against Boost In Counties' Slice Of Income Tax Take

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP)—Gov. Tawes doesn't think Maryland's counties have much chance of getting a bigger share of state income tax collections.

Any plan to boost the counties' share of the levy "would have rough sledding" in the General Assembly, Tawes said Saturday. Despite this, the State Assn. of County Commissioners approved at their annual summer meeting a study of plans to send more of the revenue back to the counties.

A legislative committee headed by H. T. Slaughter of Talbot County will conduct the study.

Under one proposal, the state would return a bigger share of the levy than at present. The second proposal would permit any of the 23 counties and Baltimore City to levy a 1 per cent income tax of its own.

Tawes said he personally opposed any surrender by the state of its income taxing powers. He made his position known while attending a Democratic women's luncheon near the site of the commissioners' meeting.

Slaughter's committee also will study a proposal to revamp the formula under which motor vehicle revenues are shared. At present 50 per cent goes to the state, 30 per cent to Baltimore City and 20 per cent to the 23 counties.

The 1960 General Assembly turned down the proposed formula under which the funds would be divided among the political subdivisions on the basis of the number of vehicles registered in each county.

The commissioners approved a resolution calling for uniform county and state highway signs in an effort to cut rear-end collisions. The resolution was suggested by State Roads Commission Chairman John B. Funk.

State Comptroller Louis Goldstein urged the political subdivisions to adopt the same fiscal year as the state, running from July 1 to June 30. This, he said, would make for a better system of accounting and a more equitable distribution of tax money.

Some of the various local governments now tie in their fiscal year with the calendar year. A number align their fiscal periods with the state and federal governments.

Goldstein's speech was read by W. Irving Young, chief of Maryland's Bureau of Revenue Estimates. Goldstein was unable to attend because of the death of his father-in-law in Tennessee.

Foley Backed By Labor Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. John R. Foley (D-Md.) is the only Maryland congressional nominee to date to win endorsement from reelection from the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO.

Woodrow F. Strong, president of the union group, made the announcement Saturday. He added that the organization also voted support of the Kennedy-Johnson Democratic ticket in the November election.

Strong said AFL-CIO area councils in Maryland will be permitted to make further recommendations for endorsements later, subject to the Maryland-D. C. Executive Council's approval.

This would permit backing of Republican nominees who might announce against the disputed Landrum-Griffin bill and meet other labor requirements.

Foley will be opposed in November by Republican Charles McC. Mathis of Frederick, a lawyer and member of the House of Delegates.

Md. Demo Staffers

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two more men have been added to the staff directing the Democratic party campaign in Maryland.

Theodore G. Venetoulis, a Baltimore native serving as legislative assistant to Rep. Jim Wright (D-Tex.), was selected Saturday as chairman of the Maryland Young Citizens for Kennedy and Johnson with headquarters here.

Walter F. Perkins, president of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, was named chairman of the Baltimore Citizens for Kennedy and Johnson.

Baltimorean Has '43 Penny Mint Says Doesn't Exist

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Baltimore electrician Sunday claimed he has one of those 1943 copper pennies the U. S. Mint says doesn't exist.

Robert Porohnavi is the third person within a week to come up with one of the coins the mint says it didn't make in 1943.

Caro Martin, a San Francisco bank teller, found one last week and has been offered $10,000 for it by Edward Baker, a San Francisco coin dealer.

Mr. and Mrs. Lile Calhoun of Houston, Tex. produced another one Saturday. "I wouldn't give 30 cents for it," said Houston coin dealer W. J. Bingham.

Coin dealers estimates of the value of the pennies vary from a cent to $25,000.

Porohnavi, a 28-year-old father of two children, has been collecting coins for nine years as a hobby. He ran across the 1943 copper penny about three years ago while following his custom of checking his pocket change.

"We could never find out from any coin organizations or publications what it was worth," said Mrs. Porohnavi, but her husband was once offered $500 for it by a mounted coins," says Mrs. Porohnavi.

Publication of Martin's find in San Francisco and the $10,000 offer caused Porohnavi to announce his news.

What would they do if offered $10,000?

"We'd sell, put in a club cellar and decorate it with plaques of

In Washington meanwhile, a top official of the federal mint repeated: No copper pennies were made in 1943.

PRR Strike Would Idle 5,000 In Region

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad has notified about 5,000 workers in its Chesapeake region they will be furloughed if a strike begins as scheduled Thursday.

A local official of the railroad said only a small supervisory labor force would be kept on duty in this region, from Norfolk to Philadelphia.

Negotiations between the company and the Transport Workers Union are scheduled to resume Monday.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—I don't blame Marion Brando for going after "All Fall Down" even if the "hero" is the biggest heel in recent fiction. I couldn't put down this fascinating first novel by James Leo Herlihy about a mother, father and a younger brother who adore and are completely blind to the completely evil nature of the eldest son. Young and good-looking Mr. Herlihy writes with the dagger of a Tennessee Williams but, unlike Tennessee, the good overpowers the evil without diluting the drama. He is also the author of two plays, "Blue Denim" and "Crazy October."

Marion won't say what moola he's put up to buy "All Fall Down" for his independent Penn-baker Company—but it's plenty. He'll make it after "Mutiny On The Bounty" and "The Ugly American."

Millie Perkins is 99 per cent set for "Tess Of The Storm Country," Bob Lippert's remake of one of the biggest financial and emotional hits ever scored by Mary Pickford. It's a great acting role for a young actress—and if she balks at this fine old classic as she has at other assignments offered by 20th Century-Fox—what is Millie looking for?

She hasn't made a picture since "The Diary Of Anne Frank" and Old Covered Bridge Restored, Not Razed

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UPI)—The State Highways Department has come up with an ingenious answer to the problem of placating covered bridge buffs and at the same time making the quaint old structures safe for modern traffic.

For years, lovers of old covered bridges, and particularly members of the Theodore Burr Covered Bridge Society of Pennsylvania, have suffered agonies whenever one of the historic bridges was threatened with replacement for safety reasons.

The society has been after the State Highways Department for some time to save the Old Knox covered bridge here. Its main supporting timbers were damaged by fire several years ago and remained in that condition until highway engineers figured out how to meet safety standards and preserve the horse and buggy atmosphere of the structure.

They placed steel beams to support the bridge, but bridge lovers' aesthetic senses are not offended by the steel. They see it in its pristine glory because the girders are hidden. Only the trout in Valley Creek, and maybe an occasional fisherman, can see the modern touch.

honoring Jimmy. Making a toast to the guest of honor, Paul said, "I hope to live to see the day when Jimmy McHugh is president of ASCAP. He has done fine work for our organization including frequent trips to Washington for the juke box bill—and other endeavors benefitting all song writers." I'm sure Paul would be pleased by this honor that has come to his good friend.

The town will turn out on Sept. 6 for David Merrick's premiere of "A Taste of Honey" at the Biltmore Theatre. Besides wanting to see the play, everyone will be curious about Joan Plowright, the girl Vivien Leigh said was the cause of her separation from Sir Laurence Olivier. Joan and Angela Lansbury are the stars in the play.

Incidentally, Merrick holds the record for having sold more plays to motion pictures than any other producer, these including "Fanny," "The Matchmaker," "Look Back In Anger," "The Entertainer," "The Good Good," "Romanoff and Juliet," "Gypsy" and "Suzie Wong." Three of the shows he will produce on Broadway this fall have also been sold as movies, namely "Irma La Douce," "Taste Of Honey" and "Do Re Me."

Oldtown PTA Sponsors Dance

OLDTOWN—The executive committee of the Oldtown School PTA has made plans for its "Harvest Dinner" which will be held Thursday, September 22 from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

The menu will include ham, potatoes, harvest vegetables and apple and raisin pie.

In other PTA action, Joseph Herscuth was appointed chairman of the budget and finance committee to replace James Skidmore. Mrs. Charles Walters also was named chairman of the health and safety committee.

The dinner committee will meet again Wednesday, September 14 at 2 p.m. at the school.

Rewards For Safe Driving Proposed

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Rewards should be given for safe driving as a means of promoting traffic safety, the Minnesota Automobile Association says.

"It has been established that reward is far more effective than punishment," President E. Ray Cory said. "Yet there is no system of reward for safe driving."

However, he said, the American Automobile Association is conducting a study to determine if a practical means can be found for applying a rewards incentive to improve driving habits.

He's A Modern Bounty Hunter

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Obie Gray doesn't consider himself as such, but he's probably the nearest thing to a modern-day bounty hunter.

Obie's usual job is dance hall inspector for the Cleveland Safety Department. On the side, he serves on special assignment tracking down bail bond jumpers.

In eight years, Gray has traveled through 25 states after his quarry. He's been shot at but never wounded.

Informers sometimes help Gray and he recalls one time he was aided by a parrot.

"I was looking for a woman who had taken it on the lam," he said. "She was a pet lover and had left her parrot with her mother. I visited the mother many times. She gave me no information but finally the parrot did."

"While talking to the mother, I mentioned the daughter's name and the bird chirped 'upstairs.' Sure enough, I found her in a second floor bedroom."

What Will The TV Debate Prove?

Television networks promised to give free time to the Republican and Democratic Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates provided the government would relieve them of the obligation to give equal time to candidates of splinter parties. Congress complied with the request.

The result may be an unprecedented confrontation, in which the voters will hear face-to-face discussion of campaign issues between the contenders. How dramatic and instructive this will be depends on the candidates.

They have still to agree on how they will use the time. Straight debates, joint news conferences or a combination of the two are possibilities.

The political debate is a historic institution in the United States. It was used in the state campaigns preceding the adoption of the Constitution. It started Lincoln on his way to the Presidency.

It has its dangers. It can produce a triumph of glibness over wisdom. Self-possession before a camera and verbal facility are not positive proof of ability. However, Vice President Nixon and Senator Kennedy are poised and articulate, with long training in parliamentary debating, which can get pretty rough, so neither is likely to appear at a disadvantage in their forthcoming encounters.

Re Connally Reservation

When the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association meets in Washington on August 31, one of the questions before it will be the Connally Reservation. Of course, the American Bar Association is not the Congress and its determination will be obiter dicta, but it will be influential. The lawyers will understand what a Reservation means and that is more than many who favor its discontinuance grasp. Great Britain and France have stronger Reservations than we have and there is no movement in those countries to revoke their Reservations.

At issue is only one question: Does the World Court or the United States decide what is a domestic question within the United States? The continuance or repeal of the Connally Reservation raises no other question. It does not withdraw our membership from the International Court of Justice. It does not lessen our interest in adjudicating international questions by juridical rather than military decision.

Those who favor the removal of the Reservation believe that the peace of the world can best be assured if all nations accept the World Court as the final arbiter of international issues. If the world were different than it happens to be, this could be the best device for reducing or avoiding wars.

There are now 82 members of the World Court. The membership will increase. Many of the members represent Soviet states and other anti-Western bodies. There are 15 judges in this Court, no two from any one country. The present 15 judges are:

Abdel Hamid Badawi, United Arab Republic; V. K. Wellington Koo, China; Sir Percy Spender, Australia; Jean Spiropoulos, Greece; Bodan Winarski, Poland; Jules Basdevant, France; Roberto Cordova, Mexico; Ricardo J. Alfaro, Panama; Sir Hersch Lauterpacht, United Kingdom; Lucio M. Moreno Quintana, Argentina; E. C. Armand Ugou, Uruguay; Green Haywood Hackworth, United States; Helge Klaestad, Norway; Muhammad Zafrulla Khan, Pakistan; F. I. Kojewnikov, USSR.

It will take many years before the Court can work out a system of international jurisprudence that will not be based on local custom and tradition, but on written legislation. Meanwhile, we must maintain this one little safeguard, the Connally Reservation, to protect ourselves. The Statute of the Court is a surprisingly ambiguous document.

For instance, it deals with general principles of law as recognized by civilized nations.

What is a civilized nation? If Great Britain, the United States and Canada are civilized, are France, Soviet Russia and Saudi Arabia civilized? The systems of jurisprudence of these countries are not identical nor do they have a common source. Until there is an agreement as to which law is to prevail or if a new law is to prevail, how can any major nation leave its national security to a majority vote among representatives of nations who require obedience? For instance, an American judge is not regarded as a traitor to his country if he renders a decision against it. Actually, in this country, we have a Court of Claims for precisely that purpose. Also, the ordinary courts often render decisions against the government and the United States Supreme Court even declares Acts of Congress signed by the President unconstitutional.

Is that possible under the Soviet system? May a Soviet judge disregard instruction from his government? Would not an American judge regard such an instruction as an invasion of judicial privilege?

Imagine bringing before a Court which makes decisions by a majority of those present, such a question as the seizure of American property in Cuba or the beating up of Canadian officials in the Congo! Only 14 nations have ever accepted the compulsory jurisdiction for a fixed period; without the Connally Reservation, the United States would accept such compulsory jurisdiction for a fixed period on all subjects. The United States, as the leading country on Earth, would be a perfect target for the weak and backward nations.

The real peril to the United States lies in the Asian-African bloc of nations which is playing for opportunity for growth. Out of 82 members, 29 are in the Asian-African bloc. It is expected that this number will increase to 43. The day is not far distant when such a group can be a majority in the United Nations and that a majority of the judges on the World Court will be of the Asian-African group. Can we afford, in the present circumstances, to risk that?

Consigned To Its Proper Place

The Fuss Over Nixon's Role In Government

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower may have unwittingly started the ball rolling on one of the most important issues of the campaign — namely, just how much experience Vice President Nixon has had in the development of national and international policies.

The President was asked at his news conference on Wednesday to say in what "decisions" on public policy the Vice President had participated, and Mr. Eisenhower's answer was that "decisions" are made by the President and not by anybody else. At the same time he said that he considers Mr. Nixon one of his "principal advisers."

The Democrats in the Senate promptly though they saw an issue, and seized upon this answer as meaning that Mr. Nixon's participation on the Executive side of the government had been most incidental. But actually what the President said is in line with what Vice President Nixon himself had previously revealed in describing his own role. Thus, in an impromptu interview with Mr. Nixon last May, which was not widely published in the newspapers, the following colloquy occurred:

"Q. What role do you play in Cabinet meetings, for example? Do you have a chance to speak up?"

"A. Yes, I have always had the opportunity to express myself, not only at Cabinet meetings but at the other meetings over which the President presides. Usually it is his custom, once a matter is presented at any one of these meetings, to ask the various people around the table for their comments and suggestions."

WILD BLUE YONDER — A few years back the Army and the Air Force reached a settlement on their respective fields of activity that essentially grounded the Army and gave the sky to the fly-bys.

This settlement left the Army less than happy, particularly when the dawn space age found it with the only workable long-range missile and a team of rocket experts, headed by Dr. Werner von Braun, to go with it.

The Army has now officially disclosed that it has been mapping the surface of the moon for more than a year for the purpose of determining the most likely sites for military bases. With the rash of recent space and missile successes, the program seems more realistic than it would have only a few short months ago.

The Army estimates that military bases on the moon will be feasible in 10 years. What it doesn't say is how the men and material will be transported to earth's satellite.

As far as the Air Force is concerned, it hasn't been consulted, and space travel is its primary jurisdiction. Army engineers have a terrific reputation for bridge building and the like, but the Air Force doubts they plan to transport by a bridge to the moon.

Replacement Transfusions For Newborns

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Exchange blood transfusions save the lives of 14 out of every 15 infants born with erythroblastosis. This is the disorder that develops when the blood of the mother and fetus are incompatible, usually from the Rh factor.

The new-born's red corpuscles are being broken up by destructive antibodies acquired from the mother. The youngster's blood must be removed promptly and replaced by a transfusion from a suitable donor to prevent anemia, brain damage, or death.

Most victims of erythroblastosis are the product of a mother with

Rh negative blood and a father with Rh positive. In others, the mother has O blood and the father has A or B. When the serum of one mixes with the cells of the other, an explosion takes place in the blood. The red cells of the unborn baby rupture, releasing a pigment that stains the tissues yellow, including the skin and whites of the eyes. Many of these infants develop jaundice on the first day of life.

This is how incompatibility occurs: The mother has Rh negative blood and the fetus Rh positive.

Certain substances (antigens) in this Rh positive fetal blood pass through the placenta. They act like a foreign irritant to the Rh negative blood of the mother, which retaliates by manufacturing protective antibodies.

The antibodies return to the fetus via the placenta and coat or sensitize the infant's cells so that they disintegrate. Once the child is born, the supply of these destructive antibodies stops. But it is necessary to eliminate the antibodies in baby's circulation and substitute new blood. This is why replacement transfusions are lifesaving.

The passage of antibodies from mother to child is valuable when they are the type that protects against infections during the first few months of life. But in erythroblastosis this mechanism backfires.

Sen. O'Mahoney, Public Servant, To Introduce His Last Bill Today

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — An old man will roll his wheel chair out on the Senate floor today to introduce his last piece of legislation. He is Joseph C. O'Mahoney, senior Senator from Wyoming, 76 years old, frail, feeble, but still fighting after 43 years of helping to grind out the laws of the nation.

The bill O'Mahoney will introduce will be in keeping with his long career as a public servant. It will call for the abolition of the insurance rate-making body of the District of Columbia on the ground that it has become a means of guaranteeing high rates to insurance companies rather than giving fair rates to the public.

Shortly after the bill is introduced and his last speech is made, Joe O'Mahoney will begin packing up his files and correspondence from room 232 in the Senate Office Building, a room which he has occupied almost ever since he came to Washington in 1917 to work for Sen. John Kendrick, Democrat, of Wyoming.

On the bookcase of that office is a peculiar piece of wood which illustrates the greatest contribution Joe O'Mahoney has made to his country — battling, against big business monopoly.

First U.S. Monopoly Case

The wood is a cross-section of a water main, the first ever laid in Manhattan. Behind it lies the story of the first monopoly case in the USA and later the duel in which Aaron Burr killed Alexander Hamilton.

"Back in the early days of the Republic," O'Mahoney told me when I dropped in to see him, "Vice President Aaron Burr was trying to set up a bank in New York — then the capital of the United States. But Alexander Hamilton, the first Secretary of the Treasury and founder of the Republican party, had arranged the law so that no rival bank could be established in New York. There was only one. Burr couldn't get around this statute."

"Finally," explained the Senator, "the yellow fever epidemic hit New York and there was no water. People died by the thousands. So Aaron Burr established a company to build a water main and provided in its charter: 'This company may engage in any other business not contrary to the laws of New York.'"

"When the charter came up before John Jay, then Governor of New York, Alexander Hamilton opposed it on the ground that it could start competition for his bank. But John Jay pointed out 'There's a yellow fever epidemic in New York and we've got to have water.' He signed the charter."

"That," said O'Mahoney, "was the way Aaron Burr was able to establish free banking competition in New York. He established the Bank of Manhattan."

And one of the prize possessions which O'Mahoney will soon pack up is the 12-inch cross-section of tree trunk in the very center of which is a hole two inches wide, through which water was first brought to the people of New York.

Beetle-Brow Prober

O'Mahoney's own battle against monopoly has been confined to more recent American history. During the heyday of the Roosevelt New Deal he served as chairman of the Temporary National Economic Committee which hauled the big insurance companies, the big food chains, and the big industrial combines on the carpet.

One result was passage of the Holding Corporation Act. Another was an $80,000 profit by the Government Printing Office — which seldom makes a profit on anything — from selling copies of the TNEC report. They were in great public demand.

In 1948 when Harry Truman was running for re-election, O'Mahoney was seriously considered as his running mate, but was vetoed by Truman's friends Ed Flynn and Howard McGrath, both Catholics, because O'Mahoney was a Catholic. They were afraid religion would hurt the ticket.

And in the next election — 1952 — Joe lost his Senate seat in the Eisenhower landslide. Whereupon he did what few defeated Senators have the heart or nerve or energy to do. At the age of 70 he ran again in 1954 and won.

He won despite the fact that he had defended Owen Lattimore, the Johns Hopkins professor pilloried by McCarthy; and despite the fact that he was called a pro-Rod for so doing. Having won, Joe came back to the Senate where he had previously acquired great seniority, and began all over again as a freshman.

He began, however, with the same old fire in his blue eyes, the same old determination blazing out from under his bushy eyebrows. Among other things he focused attention on the Dixon-Yates contract, wanted to know why New York Life and Metropolitan Life, two insurance companies which he had once investigated, were putting up $99,000,000 of their policyholders' money for the highly speculative Dixon-Yates venture. Thanks in part to O'Mahoney, Dixon-Yates was canceled.

And today, Joe O'Mahoney, now in a wheel chair, but with fire still in his blue eyes, will wheel himself out on the Senate floor to introduce his last legislation — the curtailment of insurance rate bodies because they protect the insurance companies, not the public.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The conservation is buckshot. Jim Sullivan throws a grunt my way. I throw one back. We edge around opposite sides of a pool table in the back of his Sea Bright tavern. He is a short, stout man with white hair and a pro-scootch palate and an anti-scootch stomach.

Up front there is a big oval bar. Two black mynah birds in cages do the talking. Customers in beach shorts and big coolie hats sip frosty beers and watch the ice fight a losing battle to whisky in a glass. A piano shows its teeth in silence. On the walls, big ocean liners sail serenely to faraway places. The dim light makes the ladies look good.

Life should be easy for Jim Sullivan. But, like the rest of us, he is plagued with small troubles. Bartenders, for example. His day man is Walter Waldron, a good-looking man of middle years with a sense of humor. Mr. Waldron arrives in the morning to take care of the mumbly penitents. He dispenses the cure.

There is no problem with Walter. However, Mr. Sullivan has hired and fired so many night bartenders that some customers come in asking the name of the bartender of the week. One of them caused Sullivan to think he was becoming hard of hearing. The boss couldn't hear the jangle of the cash register.

It developed that the bartender had taken it apart, stuffed cotton around the bell, and left the cash drawer slightly open. In that way, Sullivan didn't know when sales were being rung up. The bartender was hitting the keys for the beer sales and putting the scotch money in his pocket.

If there is one thing Sullivan can't stand, it's dishonesty in anybody else. He fired the man with a sad shake of the head. Another one used to show up sober, but he was drunk by 9 p. m. and nobody ever saw him take a drink. Sullivan watched, while chalking a cue, but the bartender never tipped a glass.

Still, by 9 every evening, the man was skidding on his own ice cubes on the floor, and treating the stout ladies to extra belts on Mr. Sullivan. The boss asked him daffy trying to figure it out. Then he saw what was going on. The man had a bottle under the bar with the clean glasses.

Whenever he had to duck down to get fresh tumblers, he took a swig. By 9, if the place was half full, it looked crowded to the bartender. Sullivan let him go with a short prayer for the repose of his soul. Another one didn't drink at all, and didn't believe in stealing.

He appeared to be ideal until the second night. One of Sullivan's best customers came in, sat down, and said: 'I'll have a rye and ginger.' The bartender leaned across the mahogany and snarled: 'You've had enough, Buster.' The customer was stunned. 'Enough?' he said. 'What are you talking about? Get me that drink.'

The bartender beamed at the customer. He began to untie his apron. 'How would you like to come behind the bar?' he said pleasantly, 'and go a few rounds with me?' Before Sullivan could drop the cue, the bartender was lifting the customer over the bar. Before the bartender departed, he invited Mr. Sullivan for a little go.

He's had others. One had a tic in the right eye. None of the husbands liked him, and he had to leave. On another occasion, a group of salon owners came in to pay their respects to Mr. Sullivan and ended up in a fist fight. The boss, who is about 5 feet 7, stepped between them and said: 'Gentlemen, please!' He stopped a hard right to the eye and, at once, his Irish heritage came to the surface and he began to swing at friend and foe.

It was a jolly brannigan for a moment, but then a bartender asked if they wanted soda or water in their drinks, and all hands had to stop and think. Action was suspended until the drinks were straightened out.

Sometimes, a friendly bartender comes in as a customer. Bill Armstrong is one. He is a tall, handsome man with a busted nose acquired by talking when he should have been listening. Sullivan was recounting a visit he made to the Freehold Trotting Races.

"This tipster is a friend of mine," he says, "so I tell him that I want the two horses with the highest odds for the daily double. He gives me the right horse in the second race, but the wrong one in the first. I end up blowing the double and it pays $932."

"After that, I get lucky. I pick the winner of the second race, the third, the fourth, the fifth and the sixth. I'm telling you, I never had such a streak."

"I know," said Armstrong, shaking his head in sympathy, "but tell me—how much did you lose?"

Chicago Protests After Klu's 3-Run Belt Is Nullified

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles moved into second place in the American League Sunday by trimming Chicago 3-1. The White Sox had a three-run homer called back.

Chicago Manager Al Lopez announced the White Sox are protesting the game as a result of the eighth-inning play in which pinch-hitter Ted Kluszewski slammed a Milt Pappas pitch into the right field bleachers with two aboard.

Third base umpire Ed Hurley erased the play by announcing he had called "no pitch" before the delivery. Hurley said he stopped play to tell two Chicago players—Earl Torgeson and Floyd Robinson—that they were not warming up in the proper area.

Fox Is Ejected

The White Sox protested long and loud to no avail. Second baseman Nellie Fox was ejected between innings for arguing with Hurley.

Pappas was besting Early Wynn in a pitching battle until the eighth. He had given up only two hits and had retired 10 in a row before Luis Aparicio singled with two out in the eighth. Singles by Nellie Fox and Roy Sievers scored one run and set the stage for Kluszewski. Big Klu filed to center for the final out after being called back to the plate.

The Orioles made four singles count for their three runs, two in the second and one in the fifth.

Gene Woodling extended his hitting streak to 14 games with a single in the third.

The White Sox loaded the bases with one out in the ninth on singles by Billy Goodman and Al Smith and a walk to Robinson, but Hoyt Wilhelm came on in relief and struck out Torgeson and got Aparicio on a fly to center.

A crowd of only 14,945 watched the battle for second place. Pappas, a 21-year-old right-hander, won his 12th game against eight losses. The 40-year-old Wynn, who gave up only six hits in seven innings, suffered his ninth loss in 19 decisions.

Jim Gentile led off the second with a walk. After Gus Triandos struck out, Gene Stephens singled and Ronnie Hansen drove in Gentile and advanced Stephens to third with a bloop single. Stephens scored on a sacrifice fly by Merv Breeding.

Breeding scored the third run after singling to lead off the fifth. With two outs and Breeding on second, the White Sox intentional walked Gene Woodling, but Brooks Robinson delivered the run with a single to center.

Reds Get Nine Runs In First, Score 9-3 Win

Purkey Gets Credit For 14th Triumph Over Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Cincinnati Reds came up with a nine-run first inning featuring three home runs and then coasted to a 9-3 victory Sunday over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The big first inning made it an easy win for Bob Purkey who now has beaten the Dodgers four times without a loss this season. It was his 14th victory against eight defeats.

The Reds sent 12 men to bat in the opening inning, but only four of the runs were earned because of errors by Duke Snider and Maury Wills.

Catcher Ed Bailey hit a disputed two-run homer that the Dodgers claimed bounced into the right field stands and should have been ruled a double.

When first baseman Gordon Coleman homered over the left field screen, Ed Roebuck replaced starter Stan Williams and promptly gave up a pair of singles followed by Roy McMillan's three-run homer.

Purkey pitched one-hit ball for the first four innings, but in the fifth with two out, catcher John Roseboro hit a two-run homer down the right field line and Irv Noren followed with a pinch homer, his first since joining the Dodgers as a free agent last spring.

Vada Pinson, who had gone 32 times at bat against the Dodgers without a hit, ended the drought with a double in the sixth inning.

Pony Loop Teams Open Final Series

Bob Goldworthy's Frostburg Little Moes and Westernport are slated to meet at Frostburg today at 6 p.m., in the first game of a three-game set marking the final playoffs in the Bi-State Pony Baseball League.

Frostburg has won the pennant for the third straight year with a 14-3 record and it has copped playoff honors for the past two seasons. Westernport finished the regular season in 4th place with an 8-9 record.

The Little Moes have beaten Westernport twice, 14-0 and 16-2. The third game of the series ended in a 4-4 deadlock.

In the playoff semi-finals, Westernport eliminated Frostburg's Mounties while the Little Moes won over Mt. Savage.

The Yankees bounced back to take the nightcap, 8-5, aided by two pairs of back-to-back home runs, marking the 9th and 10th time they have accomplished the feat this season.

Baltimore, winning over the White Sox in a game protested by the Chicagoans sliced the Yankees lead to two games.

The Tigers wasted no time in putting the first game on ice Sunday. They scored five unearned runs in the first inning, and showed their own back-to-back home specialists in Frank Bolling and Rocky Colavito. Errors by Yankee starter Eli Grba and Tony Kubek and a passed ball made the Detroit task easier.

The Tigers opened the second game as if they were continuing a serial story. Ossie Virgil smacked the first pitch into the left field seats, and Norm Cash, who had reached first on Dale Long's error and had stolen second, scored on Frank Bolling's single, giving the Tigers two big runs to work the lead.

The lead didn't last long. In the second inning Long hit his first American League home run scoring Yogi Berra, who had singled ahead of him, and then John Blanchard followed with another homer.

Detroit tied it up in the third on Kaline's triple and an infield out. But in the fifth the Yankees put the game away with three more runs. Mickey Mantle hit his 31st homer scoring Tony Kubek ahead of him, and Berra followed immediately with his 14th.

Garrett Court Grand, Petit Jurors Named

Term Will Open On September 13

OAKLAND — Grand and petit jurors for the September term of court were selected by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in the presence of attorneys and Circuit Court officials. He named Robert J. Stanton, Oakland, as foreman of the grand jury which will convene September 13 at 10 a. m.

September 12 would have been the usual time, but that is Old Defenders' Day, a legal holiday in Maryland.

Others named to the grand jury are Wilmer W. Margroff, Charles C. Browning, Wilbur L. Upperman, Clyde L. Smith, Bertie L. Thrasher, Lester W. Sweitzer, Arch W. Connell, Roy Gloffley, Rodger Bond, Foster Yost, Harry F. Paugh, Ethelwyn Blanch Riley, Catherine L. Marshall, Veryl E. Weiner, Hubert G. Custer, Lloyd C. Jenkins, Wayne B. Hamilton, Lawrence E. Hardesty, Victor H. Harvey, Arlie W. Barrick, James A. Rodeheaver and Selma A. Neil.

The 25 members of the petit jury include Lemuel F. Friend, George Fulk, Thomas Weir, Orville G. Stark, Orval L. Minnick, Otha Evans, Ellsworth O. Beachy, Audrey S. Feld, Owen W. Stanton, Lillian S. McKenize, Paul Y. Bachtel, Marion C. Pettit, Earl S. Beckman, Milton Rodamer, Lester T. Barnard, Ralph Russell Humberson, Paul W. DeWitt, Olin N. Friend, Ellen E. Humberson, Avis N. Bittinger, Julia E. Skidmore, William E. Blaker, John Paul Riley, Ralph Swauger and Charles C. Reckard.

They will convene September 26 for criminal court duty, and meet September 19 to hear a number of State Roads Commission condemnation cases.

Ten out of 48 persons selected for jury duty are women. There are four listed on the grand jury and six on the petit jury.

RC Bloodmobile Visits Tri-Towns Area Sept. 13

PIEDMONT—The next visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile unit to the Tri-Towns is scheduled for September 13, according to Mrs. Carleton Bell, blood program chairman.

A policy change involving blood replacements to hospitals in other cities was reported by Mrs. Bell. Heretofore, any resident of the Tri-Towns who required blood in a hospital anywhere in the United States or Canada could request the local RC chapter to have replacements made through the Red Cross. It is now necessary to require that the community meet the established blood quota, or that blood donations be made specifically for the patient because the number of blood donations has not kept pace with the increased demand for the service.

The Red Cross will continue to meet the needs of residents and members of their immediate family who have made blood donations within the previous six months, but those who have not done so will be required to secure donors before credit is established.

If such preplacement is not made it will be necessary to make replacements on a pint for pint basis, Mrs. Bell said. Red Cross records show that when blood is required it usually involves five, 10, 20 or more bottles.

Homemakers Hear Reports

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Homemakers Club held a recent dinner meeting at Happy Hills Farm Restaurant with Mrs. Charles Hager presiding. Mrs. Eugene Valentine and Mrs. James Brode were in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Alvin Cook opened the business session. Miss Margaret Jones gave the history of the hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" and led the group in singing several selections, accompanied by Mrs. Anthony Folk at the piano.

Reports were submitted by Mrs. Edward Richardson on clothing demonstrations given by the Frostburg Homemakers at the Cumberland Fair; Mrs. Edgar Miller on her trip to 4-H Club Week at the University of Maryland; Mrs. James Morgan Jr. on the 4-H Girls Camp at Camp Agawam, Bittering, and Mrs. Paul Rice on 4-H activities Frostburg clubs have been participating in this summer.

Mrs. George Griffith, Mrs. Harry Miller and Mrs. Joseph Downey reported on a program planning meeting they attended at the Extension offices in Cumberland, and presented the club with a preview of the projects for fall and winter meetings.

Mrs. Adam Baer and Mrs. Anthony Folk spoke briefly on the definition of "A Good Friend."

The next meeting is scheduled September 27 at Frostburg State Teachers College. The committee in charge includes Miss Elizabeth Workman, Mrs. Reford Aldridge, Mrs. Kenneth Babcock, Mrs. Adam Baer, Mrs. Gurney Beeman, Mrs. James Brode, Mrs. Alvin Cook and Mrs. Clayton Dennison.

Schools At Fort Ashby Will Open September 2

FORT ASHBY—J. William Marker, principal of Fort Ashby Elementary and High School, announced that students will report Friday for the coming school term. Registration will continue from 9 to 11 a. m.

Faculty members only will report Thursday for a full-day. The first complete day for students will be Tuesday, September 6. Enrollment will be about ten less than last year, making a total of 345 students for the high school and 200 pupils for the grade school.

Five vacancies on the 21-member staff have been filled during the summer months. Mrs. Nelle Welton, Second Grade teacher, is retiring after 28½ years of service. With the exception of three years in Maryland and Virginia, the rest of her teaching career has been in Mineral County.

Teachers Named — Miss Marilyn Jane Martz, Wiley Ford, was appointed to fill Mrs. Welton's vacancy. She taught the second and third grades at Fountain school last year.

New teachers added to the high school include Mrs. Betty Ann Lynch, of Morgantown, who will teach physical science, biology and general science. She taught one year at Albright Elementary and three years at Morgantown High. She received her BS degree from West Virginia University in 1955.

Robert Sirk, who taught the past year at Piedmont High, will teach math and social studies. He received his BS degree from Shepherd College in January 1959.

Clark Eagle, of Keyser, who has been teaching the past five years at Gaithersburg (Md.) Elementary, will teach Seventh Grade subjects. He spent two years at Keyser Elementary and one year at Short Gap Elementary. He received his MA degree from West Virginia University in 1954.

Miss Norma V. Baker, a BS degree graduate of Shepherd College will teach math and English.

Teachers returning to Fort Ashby High School are Homer May, English; Quentin Sayers, coach, physical education, driver education and social studies; Edward Riley, general science and physical education; Donald Thorn, vocational agriculture; Mrs. Mildred Shepp, home economics and English; Robert Kriener, music and English; Lloyd Winters, social studies and English; Lane Oakman, commerce and social studies; and Mrs. Betty Howard, librarian, senior English and American history.

Grade school teachers include Mrs. Margaret Umstot, First; Mrs. Virginia Bloom, Second and Third; Mrs. Sabra Price, Third; Mrs. Helen Spencer, Fourth; Mrs. Arvela May, Fifth and Mrs. Ida Prysock, Fifth and Sixth.

School Calendar — Holidays for the year will be Labor Day; October 13 and 14, SEA; Election Day; Veterans Day; Thanksgiving, November 23-24; Christmas, December 22 to January 4; Easter, March 30 to April 4, and Memorial Day. The school term will end May 31.

The first school activity scheduled is the annual autumn ball, sponsored by the Junior Class, October 7. It will be followed by the Senior Class play October 28 and the grade school fall program November 18.

The tentative schedule for other activities is: Minstrel, January 27; sweetheart dance, February; basketball game, March 10; Junior Class play, March 24; fortress ball, April 7; opera or spring revue, April 28; junior and senior prom, May 12; Senior Class Night, May 19; sermon, May 21 and graduation, May 26.

Paw Paw Schools Open On Standard Time, September 7 — PAW PAW — Paw Paw schools will open for the 1960-61 term September 7. Activities will be on Eastern Standard Time. Bus routes and schedules will remain the same as last year.

The first two school days will be half-day sessions with a Morgan County Teachers Association meeting scheduled the afternoon of September 7 and a local school faculty meeting scheduled the afternoon of the second day. The first full-day session will be September 9 with hot lunch being served.

An enrollment increase of 18 is expected in the high school. The only new faculty member at the present time will be the athletic coach, Lewis Close. There are still two faculty vacancies, one in home economics and the other in social science.

Lonaconing Briefs — Mrs. Andrew Nicol Jr. is a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Lewis and family, of Cleveland, Ohio, are visiting with their families in Lonaconing, the Alphonse Byrnes family, High Street, and the Dale Lewis family at Beechwood.

Pvt. Leo Broadwater arrived home after completing basic training, for a furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Klavuhn, Detroit. He will return September 9 to Fort Jackson, S.C. for Diesel motors training.

Pvt. Paul Bittinger, Fort Jackson, S.C., is home on leave.

Birth Announced — MT. SAVAGE — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Mullany, Bethesda, announce the birth of a daughter there August 18. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullany, of here.

Club To Meet — WESTERNPORT — The Sportsmen Club will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Victoria Post No. 155, American Legion, instead of the Union Hall as previously announced.

Saturday, 1 p.m., baseball game; 4:30 horse show; 8, queen crowned; 10, prize awarded; 11, fireworks.

For the first time there will be livestock displayed by 4-H members. There will also be exhibits of farm, FFA, FHA and Farm Women's Clubs, as well as individuals.

Sam Smith Heads Kiddie Carnival — LONA CONING — Melvin Sloan, executive secretary of the Maryland Municipal League, and Milton B. Millon, director of the Municipal Technical Advisory Service, visited Frostburg the past week to confer with officials on city management.

City Clerk William Vogtman said the municipality, a member of the league, has received valuable assistance from both groups.

Vogtman pointed out that the MTAS recently completed its first year of operation as a service agency to cities and towns in Maryland. In a recent report made public by Millon, he said the unit handled requests for services from 46 municipalities.

During the year, 117 project requests were received and 108 completed. The projects covered a full-range of municipal operations in such areas as ordinance and charter drafting, codification, budget making, fiscal management, aid in obtaining federal grants, advice on capital construction, surveys of municipal problems and related activities.

One of the major projects during the past year was making a wage and salary survey of municipal employees, including a classification pay plan, job description of all workers and a personnel plan for the City of Cumberland.

Vogtman said the Maryland Municipal League holds two meetings a year, a June conference which local officials attended as a group, and a convention in November.

Kindergarten Re-Opens Sept. 12 — FROSTBURG — Mrs. Emily Stewart, teacher, announced that the Hill Street Kindergarten re-opening for the fall session has been set for September 12. MISS WILLEA WILSON

JAMES E. KELLY, JR.

Two More STC Graduates Assigned In This County

FROSTBURG—Two more teaching vacancies have been filled in the Allegany county school system by graduates of Frostburg State Teachers College.

James E. Kelly Jr., 155 East Main Street, Frostburg, will be on the faculty of Gephart School.

He will replace Mrs. Marguerite Keller, who retired last June, Webster said.

Miss Willea Blair Wilson, Midland, will teach in the primary grades at West Side School.

Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Kelly Sr., 539 Patterson Avenue, was graduated from Frostburg State Teachers College in 1959.

Last year he was on the faculty of Sussex Elementary School in Baltimore county. He was graduated from LaSalle High School in 1950 and was a sergeant in the Army at Fort Knox, Ky., from 1953 to 1955.

He is also a former employee of the Potomac Edison Company where he worked while attending college. He did his practice teaching at Mt. Savage and Ellerslie schools.

Miss Wilson, daughter of County Commissioner and Mrs. William A. Wilson, was graduated from Beall High School, Frostburg, in 1956.

She was a member of the June graduating class of Frostburg State Teachers College. She was treasurer of the junior class, a member of the Day Students Association, Women's Recreation League and Maryland Singers.

She did her practice teaching at Mt. Savage school and the Thomas G. Pullen School at FSTC.

Church Bazar Opens Tonight — LONA CONING — The annual Methodist Church bazar will be held tonight at 7 o'clock. Members of the Goodwill Volunteer Fire Company and Lonaconing City Band will be guests.

Mrs. Ann Foote, WSCS president, has appointed the following committees: Kitchen, Florence Lauder, Winona Miller, Annie Watkinson, Isabel Waddell and Mary Donald, Rebecca Wilson, Mary Ann Moore and Marie Moffatt; candy, Dolly Gardner, Sally Schramm and Iledia Chappell; baked goods, Martha Grindle, Delbert Fazenbaker and Helen Dillon; fireman and band service, Sara Buchholz, Florence Duckworth, Olivia Broadwater and Mrs. James Hotchkiss.

Parcel post, Kathleen McKenzie, Eleanor Evans and Isabel Nightingale; society items: Jessie Foote and Martha Humphrey; novelties, Ann Foote, Edith Crowe and Mayme Haugen; grab bag, Anna Mary Phillips and Hilda Phillips; soft drinks, Elizabeth Gephart, Mildred Grandstaff and Martha Clark.

Lancaster Clan Re-Elects Officers — FROSTBURG — The Lancaster Family reunion was held at the Frostburg Swimming Pool with Mrs. Guy Mallow being re-elected as president. Other officers were also re-elected to serve another term.

After the business session a recreation period was held with the following prizes being awarded: two oldest woman present — Mrs. Ellen Lancaster and Mrs. Rosa Mae Snyder; oldest man present — Wilfred Lancaster; youngest person — Kevin Plummer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Plummer; largest family — that of Wilfred Lancaster; and traveling the farthest — Mrs. Charles Rebels, New York.

One hundred and fifteen persons attended the reunion. The site committee will decide on the place and time of next year's celebration.

Mineral County PTA Council Holds Leadership Conference

KEYSER—The third leadership conference sponsored by Mineral County Council of Parent-Teacher Association was held Friday in the Science Building of Potomac State College. The theme was "The Parent-Teacher Association's Part in Upgrading Education on the Local, County and State Level."

Mrs. Melvin Dawson, president, presided. Speakers included M. M. Heiskell, principal of Ridgeley Schools, who spoke on the part played by the local PTA, stating that from a national level there is an increasing population, increased middle class group, and increase in mental retardation in schools; closing with the statement that the PTA should think in terms of personalities as well as objectives.

S. T. McGee, superintendent of Mineral County Schools, spoke on the county level, stating that good locals are needed to make good county councils and that the PTA should use all capable workers whether parents or not.

Dr. James Molar, Shepherd College, spoke on the PTA's part in upgrading education in West Virginia. He said that persons need to solve problems of today and together — the school, home and child. He stated that an overall program for West Virginia is necessary.

A skit, "The Upset PTA," was presented with Charles Krieger, William Petit, Mrs. Peggy Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Twigg, Neff Wimer, James Goldsworthy, Mrs. I. W. Matlick, Mrs. Forrest Cosner, and Mrs. Harry Taylor taking part.

Rev. Kenneth Watkins, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Keyser, gave the invocation followed by Dr. E. E. Church, who welcomed the group. Special chorists included: Mrs. John Blue, secretary of the state congress of PTA; Mrs. H. M. Keiter, director of Region II; Mrs. John Stankiewicz, state chairman of Pre-School; and Mrs. James Greathouse, state chairman of publications. Mrs. Frances Hartman directed group singing with Mrs. Robert Coffman as accompanist.

Mrs. Dawson gave the goals for 1960-61 with the meeting closing with the Parent-Teacher prayer.

The program committee was composed of Mrs. Graham Pifer, chairman; M. M. Heiskell; William Michael; Richard Twigg; and Mrs. Charles Krieger.

Couple To Observe Golden Wedding At Open House Sunday — WESTERNPORT — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frank Stephens, Riordon Road, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary next Sunday with open house from 2 to 7 p. m. No formal invitations have been issued.

The couple was married September 16, 1910 by Rev. Edward Hayes at the Centre Street Methodist parsonage in Cumberland. Mrs. Stephens is the former Nellie Independence Durst, daughter of the late William and Mary (Bancord) Durst, New Germany. Her husband is a son of the late Peter and Isabel (Broadwater) Stephens.

They have five children: Denzil Stephens, Clarksburg; Donald and Richard Stephens and Mrs. Ardath Lupis, Westernport; and Paul Stephens, RD 3, Keyser, and eight grandchildren. Stephens, a miner, retired in 1948.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Transition time calls for suitable span-season fashions.

Span-Season Fashions Are Smarter Than Ever

Span-season fashions make the transition from summer to fall wardrobe an easy one. They blend fashion seasons, as the warm days of late summer blend into the crisp weather of early fall.

A summer-into-fall dress is a welcome addition to any wardrobe. But don't buy haphazardly or without plan. You'll find it easier to make a selection, I'm sure, if you keep these questions in mind when you shop:

1. Shoulders to hemline, does the dress you're considering flatter your figure? The newest styles are easy-fitting, changed from the closely defined contours of last year to a softer look. The new swinging pleats, "wrappy" jackets and big collars are more flattering to a greater number of women than were last year's fashion favorites.

2. Is the color of the dress complementary to your hair, your skin, and your eyes? Dark brunettes look vivacious in vivid colors and in beige; fair brunettes in softer shades — bright green, red, and navy. Redheads sparkle in certain tones of red, blue, and green. Blondes can wear almost any color, although the blonde with dark skin should avoid dead neutrals and yellow.

For further details on scientifically picking your most flattering color, "Your Color Type" is just the thing. My booklet, with scientific colorscope, is yours for just 10c and a stamped, return envelope sent to me, JRP, c/o this paper. Please allow at least two weeks for delivery.

3. Does the dress suit your personality? The dress that really has your personality — satin, gingham, or whatever — will be most likely to appear designed for you alone, and that is the ultimate test of any fashion.

4. Is the dress appropriate for many times, many places? Discipline yourself not to buy any span-season style that satisfies only one mood or one occasion. Your wardrobe, to be adaptable to your business and social life, must include both basics and accessories that do multiple duty.

Remember that fads are eye-catchers — money-catchers, too! Choose your summer-into-fall dress for its true style, not its flash appeal, and for its "yes" answers to my four "suitability" questions.

TOMORROW: Win accolades.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This problem is not the kind you take to a clergyman. I've considered going to a psychiatrist but I'm afraid he'd declare ME insane instead of my husband. To put it bluntly, I'm married to a man who drowns everything in catsup and it's making me a nervous wreck.

I don't mean just a blob here and there, Ann. I mean about a quarter of a bottle on everything. Not only does he like catsup on steaks and chops, but he dunks his French fries and bread in it, smears it on mashed potatoes, scrambled eggs, and even vegetables.

Once a friend dared him to put catsup in his martini. I hoped it would make him sick as a dog and get him off catsup for life, but it didn't. He said it was delicious and drank three. Now he's the life of the party with this stunt.

I phoned our family doctor and he said Karl is in excellent health and catsup won't hurt him.

What do you suggest?

—UPPA STUMP

DEAR UPPA: Buy three bottles at a time and stop nagging him.

The real cause for your irritation is rooted elsewhere. When you resolve your major differences, the catsup won't bother you, and Karl won't feel the need to show off at parties like a four-year-old in order to get attention.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 16 and my steady is 17. Tim and I have been going together for six months and we are in love.

A few weeks ago I was almost out of my mind with worry. I thought I was in trouble if you know what I mean. I told Tim and he panicked. He always said we'd get married if we had to, but he sure didn't act like he was ready to keep him word.

Like a big dummy Tim told his parents. The very next day I found out I was NOT pregnant.

Now Tim says he can't go with me any more because his folks warned him they'd throw him out of the house if he did. Is this fair after I proved my love and suffered all that heartache?

—CAST ASIDE

DEAR CAST: You proved nothing except that you're a very foolish girl. Tim proved a few things, too — mainly, that he's interested in his own pleasure and if, in the process, you happen to wind up with a ruined life, it's your tough luck.

I don't blame his folks for declaring you out of bounds. No parents in their right minds want to see their 17-year-old son married with a gun in his ribs. The fact that he would be partly to blame doesn't interest him. You're strictly bad news.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is a man in his middle 60s. We have married daughters and seven lovely grandchildren. I'm ashamed to write this letter, but you don't know me and I don't know you, which makes it easier.

The woman next door is about 45. She's a grandmother, too, but she gets herself up like a teenager. She's always out in the yard pulling weeds or trimming the hedges (any excuse), wearing shorts, and a halter top. Whenever my old man sees her he rushes out, starts pattering in our yard and makes conversation with her. What should I do?

—BATTLEAX

Dear B. A.: Nothing. When he stops looking at her he'll probably stop looking at you, too.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

GOREN ON BRIDGE—MON AUG 29
(Copyright 1960 by The Chicago Tribune)

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠ 10 2 ♥ A K 10 8 4 ♦ K 9 4 ♣ J 8 3
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥
1 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. Partner's free bid of one no trump indicates a good bid of one, which should normally measure 15 points. Your hand contains 11, which is sufficient for a game contract.

Q. 2—As dealer you hold:
♠ K J 9 2 ♥ A K J 7 4 ♦ Q 5 ♣ 9 2
What is your opening bid?

A.—One heart, intending to rebid two hearts over any minor suit response. It is highly improper to open with one spade. That type of practice is restricted to only when the four card spade suit is very strong, and this is not considered a very strong card suit.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠ A K 4 2 ♥ K 5 ♦ 7 3 ♣ 6 4 3
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Nothing is to be gained by bidding two spades. Partner has bid merely for the purpose of contesting the auction and may not be able to play at spades. Remember that he did not overcall one diamond with one heart.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ J 7 5 4 2 ♥ 6 3 ♦ K Q 6 4 2 ♣ 5
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♥ Double Pass 1 ♠
Pass 1 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?

A.—Despite the fact that you have only six points in high cards, this is a good hand facing a partner who is strong enough to double and then bid no trump. The recommended bid is two diamonds, two a bid of three diamonds could not be severely criticized. Partner could not reasonably expect much more inasmuch as you responded with only one spade, not two.

Q. 5—Partner opens with two hearts and you hold:
♠ 5 ♥ 7 5 3 ♦ K 7 4 ♣ K 7 5 3 2
What is your response?

A.—Three hearts. Some players labor under the misapprehension that to respond with anything other than two no trump requires considerable high card values. That is not true. With normal values, that is not true. With normal values, that is not true. With normal values, that is not true.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ A K J 9 2 ♥ A 7 ♦ K Q J 4 ♣ K 6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
What do you bid now?

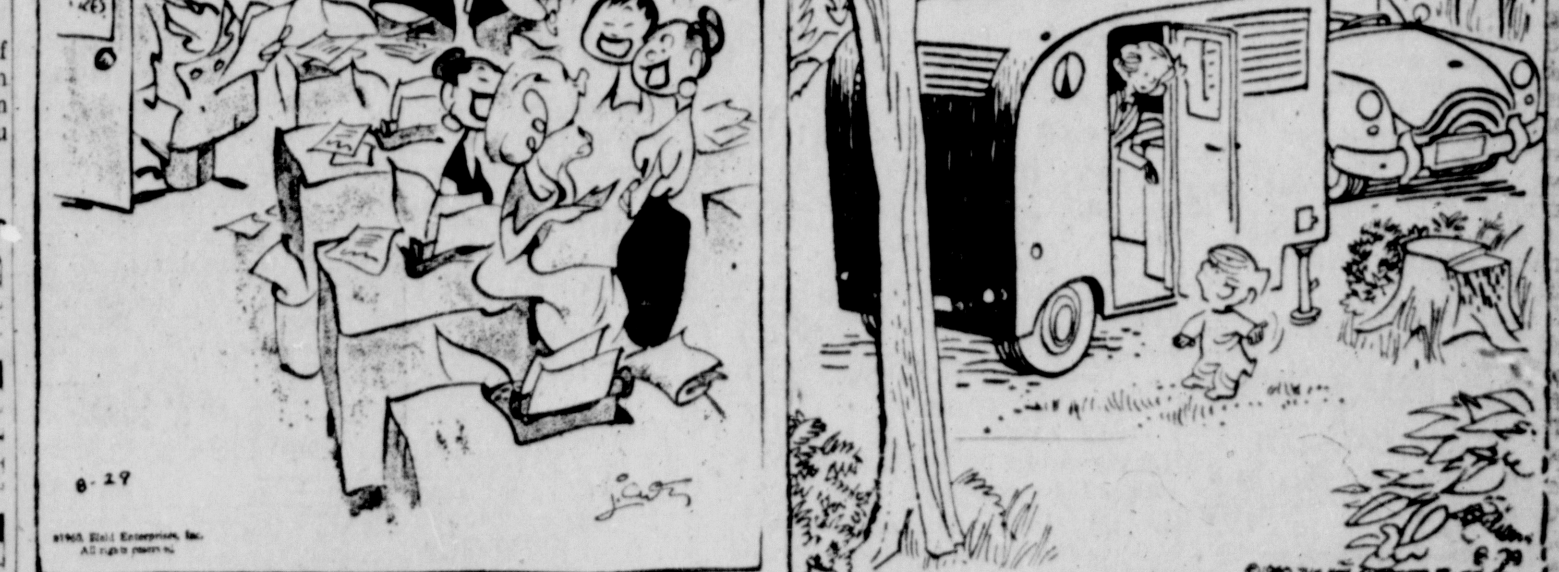

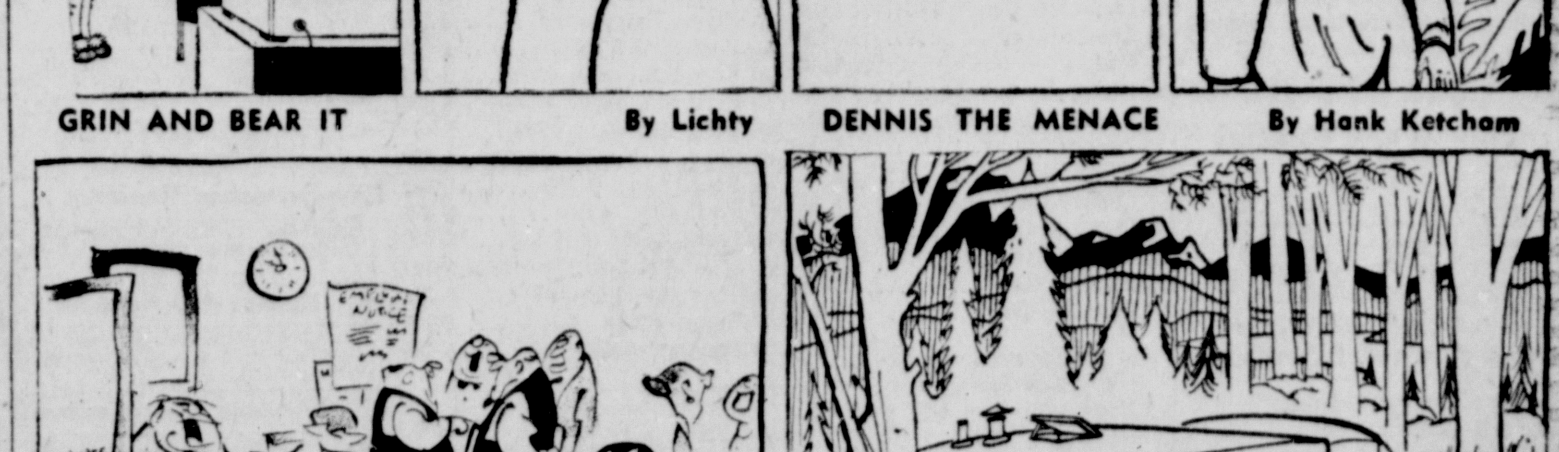

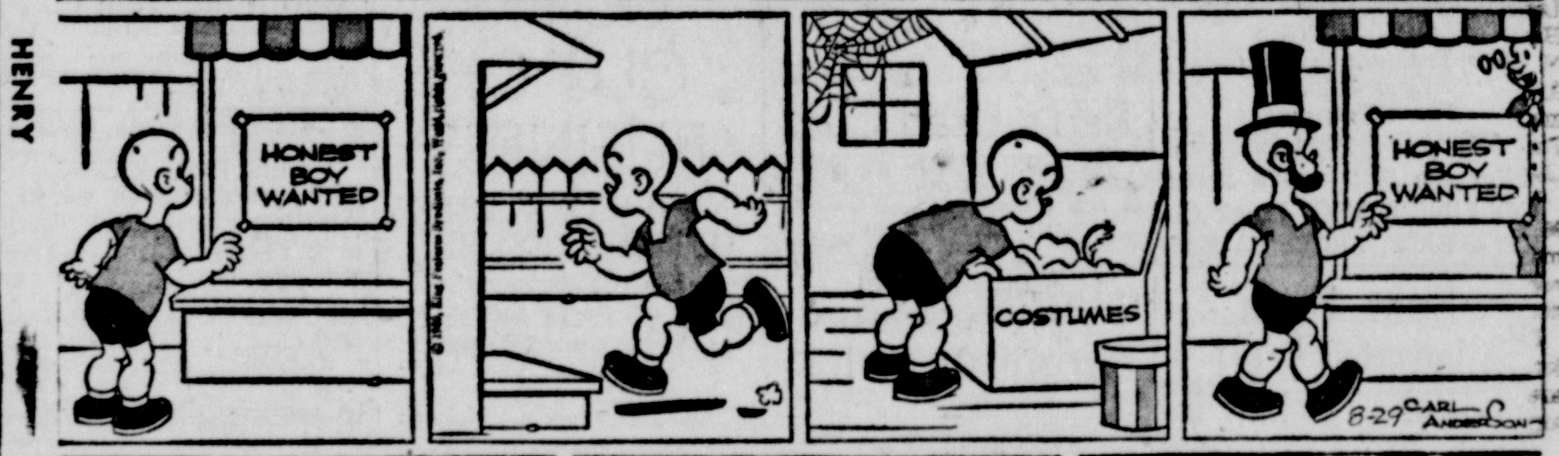

A.—Holding 21 points in high cards yourself, there is no doubt that the combined assets warrant a game contract. You should, however, make some effort to divine what is the best contract. This can be done by a forcing rebid of three diamonds. That call will allow partner to show a preference for spades at the level of choice, if he happens to have one. If partner does not care for spades, he will no doubt bid three no trump, which you are prepared to pass.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠ Q 6 ♥ K 7 6 ♦ A Q J 7 5 ♣ Q J 7
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ 1 ♥ 1 ♠ Pass
What do you bid now?

A.—You have somewhat more than an opening bid, but not enough to justify any bid. Your choice lies between rebidding diamonds and bidding one no trump. The latter is chosen because it is important to show the heart stopper.

Grant County Woman Elected

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — A Morgantown woman has been installed as president and a Petersburg, Grant County, woman has been named president-elect of the Woman's Auxiliary of the State Medical Association.

Mrs. Clark E. Sleth is the organization's new president and Mrs. Vernon L. Dyer was selected to take over as head of the group a year from now.

Other officers named as the auxiliary closed out its meeting here included:

Mrs. C. Stafford Clay of Huntington, 1st vice president; Mrs. George A. Curry, Morgantown 2nd vice president; Mrs. P. A. Tucker, Charleston, 3rd vice president; Mrs. Earl S. Phillips, Wheeling, 4th vice president; Mrs. Andrew Weaver, Clarksburg, treasurer; Mrs. Rupert W. Powell, Fairmont, recording secretary; and Mrs. Clement A. Smith, Morgantown, corresponding secretary.

Class To Meet At Penn-Alps

FROSTBURG—Mrs. Lois Baer, president of the Gleaners Club, announced that the class will hold their September meeting at the Penn-Alps, Grantsville, Wednesday, September 7 instead of September 1 as previously planned.

Mrs. Evelyn Hardesty will have charge of the program.

Mrs. Harry Barton and Mrs. K. O. Nelson will furnish the program with Dr. Alta Schrock as speaker of the evening.

The group will meet at the church and leave at 6 p. m. in cars furnished by members of the class.

Stanley Callis Heads Family Clan

MT. LAKE PARK — The Callis family reunion was held recently at the camp meeting grounds. A picnic lunch preceded the business meeting.

Stanley Callis, Mt. Lake Park, was elected president; Charles Callis Jr., Cumberland, vice president; and Mrs. Willoughby Callis, Mt. Lake Park, secretary-treasurer.

Burton Callis, of New Mexico, received a prize for traveling the longest distance to attend. The 1961 reunion will be held the third Sunday, August 20.

Missionary Visits Area Churches

FROSTBURG — Miss Mabel Willets, a missionary teacher, spoke recently at the Frostburg Assembly of God Church. She stressed the need for clothing, food and toys in foreign countries.

Miss Willets showed slides of the countries where she has been teaching. She will speak Tuesday at Flintstone; Thursday at South Cumberland; and next Sunday afternoon at Kirby, W. Va.

Miss Willets leaves in October on an 18-month tour, stopping at Hawaii, Guam, Fiji Islands, India, Pakistan and several other countries.

Garrett County Bar Association Elects

OAKLAND — Fred A. Thayer has been elected president of the Garrett County Bar Association. He succeeds C. C. Nathan.

Other new officers are Lewis R. Jones, vice president, and W. Dwight Stover, secretary-treasurer.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Proposals will be received by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland, until but not after September 6, 1960, at 10:00 o'clock A. M. Local Time. At 10:00 o'clock on said date, they will be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be submitted in duplicate, in a sealed envelope, endorsed on the outside thereof "PROPOSAL FOR PAVING NINE (9) ALLEYS."

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check in the amount of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00). The work includes placing a two inch asphaltic concrete wearing course on subgrade prepared by City forces, in accordance with plans and specifications on file at the office of the City Engineer. Individual bids must be made for each alley and the City reserves the right to waive any formalities and to reject any or all bids, and to accept any proposal which in its judgment is to the best interest of the City.

A performance bond in the full amount of the accepted bid will be required of the successful bidder.

DEATHS AND FUNERAL NOTICES

MRS. ROBERT E. GRAPES

Mrs. Mildred Vivian Grapes, 29, wife of Robert Eugene Grapes, Bedford Road, died yesterday in Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient 23 days. She had been in ill health since April.

A native of Cumberland, Mrs. Grapes was a daughter of Otto K. and Nellie (Howsare) Ryan, Bedford Valley.

She was a graduate of Fort Hill High School and Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Class of 1932. Mrs. Grapes was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church, Western Maryland Memorial Hospital Alumni Association, American Association of Nurse Anesthetists, Maryland State Nurse Anesthetists Association and the auxiliary of the Bedford Road Fire Company.

Surviving, besides her parents and husband, are two sons, Jeffrey E. and Mark S., both at home; a brother, John K. Ryan, Bedford Valley, and a sister, Mrs. Susan M. Robinette, Fort Lee, Va.

The body is at the Silcox Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Trinity Lutheran Church by Rev. H. W. Nommensen, pastor. Burial will be in Sunset Memorial Park. The body will be taken to the church at noon tomorrow.

JOHN J. JONES
John J. Jones, of 512 Hill Street, died yesterday in Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient for a month.

He was a native of Cumberland, a son of the late Brass and Susan (Smith) Jones. His wife, Elizabeth K. Jones, preceded him in death.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Florence Bates, city; two brothers, Roland, New York City, and Lawson Jones, Washington, D.C., and several nieces and nephews.

The body is at the Kight Funeral Home, where friends will be received from 2-4 and 7-9 p. m.

GORDON D. McROBIE
OAKLAND — Gordon D. McRobie, 65, died suddenly yesterday at his home on Mason Street.

Mr. McRobie was born at Deer Park, a son of the late Joseph H. and Clara (Freeland) McRobie.

Oakland Poultry Plant Hopes To Reopen Tuesday

Agreement Reached On 2½-Year Pact

A 12-day strike at Sterling Processing Corporation's Oakland poultry processing plant was settled Saturday and the company hopes to resume operations tomorrow.

The plant, a company spokesman said, will resume operations Tuesday if necessary arrangements, including the availability of United States Department of Agriculture inspectors, can be completed by that time.

The 2½-year contract settlement followed the resumption of contract negotiations Saturday morning at the request of Local 424, Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union.

The 30-month pact provides for a one-cent wage increase retroactive to July 1, 1960; two cents effective July 1, 1961, and four cents effective July 1, 1962.

It also includes a company-financed $500 life insurance policy, two days off with pay for a death in the immediate family, a $2.50 annual allowance for gloves, hair nets and aprons, a change in shift differential payment and a 90-day wage progression plan for new employees.

The working agreement contains a no strike, no lockout clause and other contract changes, and has a December 31, 1962, expiration date, according to a company spokesman.

The union membership, he said, accepted the settlement by a vote of 68-17.

About 125 workers will be affected by the contract agreement. They include plant workers represented by Pittsburgh Local 424, Meat Cutters Union, and about 15 truck drivers who belong to Cumberland Local 453, Teamsters Union.

The plant was established in Oakland slightly over three years ago.

Driver Is Hurt As Car Strikes Rt. 220 Bridge

A Purgitsville, W. Va., man was injured early yesterday morning when the car he was driving failed to round a curve and hit a bridge across the South Branch of the Potomac River near Moorefield.

He was identified as Thurman G. Hartman, who suffered multiple lacerations and contusions about the head and body.

The accident occurred about 12:20 a. m. on U. S. 220, about two miles north of Moorefield on what is known as the River Bridge.

Cpl. C. G. Hamrick, who investigated for West Virginia state police, said Hartman was driving alone toward Moorefield when his car failed to round a curve and struck the railing of the bridge.

The vehicle traveled about 50 feet along the railing and was demolished when it crashed against the railing on the other side of the span.

Hartman received emergency treatment at the scene and was later treated by a Moorefield physician before being admitted to Grant Memorial Hospital in Petersburg. His condition was reported as good.

The investigation of the accident had not been completed last night.

MYF Circuit Holds Meeting

The Prosperity-Oakdale Circuit MYF held a panel discussion on "The Jewish Festival of Succoth" at its recent monthly meeting.

Taking part in the discussion were Patsy Stickley, Sandy Stickley, Goldie Self and Brenda Miller. Rev. Irvin Allan also took part in the evening's program.

The September meeting of the group will be held September 8 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rice.

Anthony Eden Memoirs Added To Library Books

A volume by Anthony Eden is one of many new and interesting books now available at the Cumberland branch of the Allegany County Library.

Miss Elizabeth Cain, an assistant to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, has prepared brief sketches on the new books.

"Full Circle: The Memoirs of Anthony Eden" is termed an interesting story and a full account of the man who succeeded Winston Churchill through the post-war years from Potsdam to Suez.

"Trustee From the Toolroom" by Nevil Shute is a happy story in which virtues are handsomely rewarded. This author has written some 20 novels, his most recent success being "On the Beach." Mr. Shute died in Australia on January 12.

"The Edge of Day" by Laurie Lee has already won an extraordinarily wide public. Here are the author's earliest recollections of his boyhood in the west of England. This biography has been declared by one critic to be

Management Termed Key To Future Timber Wealth

The future of Maryland's timber wealth and its forest industries depends upon the ability of forest landowners to grow the right kind of trees, according to the Maryland Forest Industries Committee.

The statement is made in the 1960 edition of Maryland Forest Facts, published by L. D. Peterson.

Six Applicants Seek Post At Romney School

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Board of Education will interview at least six applicants Monday for the job of superintendent of the Romney Deaf and Blind School.

Supt. Hugo F. Schunhoff resigned this month to accept a similar post with a school in California.

Interviews were scheduled for John Blue, former principal of the Romney Deaf School; Jack W. Brady, principal of the American School for the Deaf, West Hartford, Conn.; Thomas J. LePine, deaf and hard of hearing, special instructor for the Office of Rehabilitation, Washington; Eldon Shipman, Romney Deaf School principal; Eugene Thomure, principal of the South Dakota School for the Deaf, Sioux Falls, S. D.; and Arthur H. Yates, assistant superintendent of the Illinois School for Deaf, Jacksonville, Ill.

Three persons were admitted to local hospitals yesterday after being in separate accidents.

Valerie Elfritz, seven, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital with a fractured right shoulder she sustained when she fell off a wall while playing.

Robert Robinson, 33, of Johnstown, Pa., was admitted to the same hospital with a fractured right wrist suffered while playing badminton. Mr. Robinson was here visiting friends.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital with an injured knee was James A. Metty, 30, of RFD 3, Valley Road. He was injured while playing a game at a picnic.

The Labor Day picnic committee of the Western Maryland Central Labor Council will meet today at 7 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple to make final plans for the event.

Al Barkan, assistant COPE director, will be the principal speaker for the outing, according to James McGinn, general chairman.

The Cumberland Municipal Concert Band will present an outdoor concert Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. on the lawn of Parkside School in LaVale. Those attending are asked to bring their own chairs.

Furlough Coming

Seventy-five workers at the Bolt and Forge Shops of the B&O Railroad will be paid off Wednesday, according to furlough notices posted at the shops.

Dr. and Mrs. James L. Hughes, Bedford, Mass., announce the birth of a son Saturday in Chelsea Naval Hospital. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hughes, The Dingle.

Democrats Hold County Rally Tuesday

Session To Open Election Drive

A meeting of party workers of Allegany County Democrats will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street.

William L. Wilson Jr., campaign chairman, and William B. Orndorff, co-chairman for the county, said last night that plans for registering voters, getting out the vote on election day, and fund raising will be outlined in detail.

F. Allan Weatherholt, county registration chairman, will outline plans for the registration crusade, and a motion picture prepared for the national Democratic committee on registration will be shown.

If she is able to attend, Mrs. Ann Brown, statewide registration chairman for Maryland, will speak. Mrs. Brown has been ill, but hopes to be well enough to attend this session.

Yesterday, Rep. John R. Foley expressed a desire to attend this session, and said he will do so unless the press of business in Congress on Tuesday requires his continued presence there.

Mr. Wilson said last night that this will be one of the most important rallies of this Presidential campaign year, and he urged every Democratic worker and volunteer to make a special effort to attend. The meeting is open, he said, to all persons interested in working toward the election of the Kennedy-Johnson-Foley ticket.

The Labor Day picnic committee of the Western Maryland Central Labor Council will meet today at 7 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple to make final plans for the event.

No New Leads In Search For Missing Plane

State CAP Unit To Resume Flights

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pilots of Maryland's Civil Air Patrol returned to their bases Sunday after another day of fruitless searching for an Oklahoma-bound light plane that disappeared nearly two weeks ago.

Maj. Arthur C. Robidoux, information officer for the Maryland CAP wing, said his unit has now completely covered the state twice without uncovering any leads. He added that CAP headquarters in Long Island has ordered the Maryland pilots out again Monday. Nine planes took part in Sunday's search, most operating out of Hagerstown and Annapolis.

Four Aboard Plane

The object of the wide search is a small, red and black airplane with white wings that took off from New Jersey 13 days ago, and has not been heard from since. The pilot, Harry Griffing of Oklahoma City, was accompanied by his wife and two daughters. Griffing's company, a television organization, has offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to location of the family.

CAP authorities say that while Griffing filed no flight plan, he could not have traveled much beyond 600 miles from Teterboro Airport, N. J., without refueling. Major air searches have been organized in the states within this radius, as well as states along Griffing's intended route to Oklahoma.

W. Va. Search Suspended

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Units of the Civil Air Patrol scoured the northern half of West Virginia Sunday in a final saturation-search for that small plane missing nearly two weeks. Only spot-checks were planned for the southern half.

SAP Col. Robert Gobel said if air and ground crews still failed to turn up any trace of the Cessna-182 piloted by Oklahoma City TV-theater executive Henry J. Griffing, the search would be suspended at midnight.

The Federation of Democratic Women's Clubs of Garrett County, which recently elected new officers, will be entertained at 6:30 p. m. today at the home of Mrs. Earl Guard, Friendsville, for a buffet supper.

The officers of the federation include Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner of Oakland, president; Mrs. Harry Seggie, Accident, vice president; Mrs. Lois Dettmer, Oakland, recording secretary; Mrs. Helen Yagle, Oakland, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Stewart Hamill Jr., treasurer.

Mrs. Yagle succeeds Mrs. Bernard I. Gonder of Oakland, and Mrs. Hamill succeeds Mrs. Raymond Schlossnagle of Friendsville. The others were re-elected.

Appointed from the club recently are Mrs. A. T. Matthews of Oakland, to serve as county regional chairman and Mrs. Briton Martin of Mt. Lake Park, to serve as chairman of Dollars for Democrats for the county.

Robert R. Matlick, this city, was among 22 second lieutenants commissioned Saturday at the first graduation exercise of the Maryland Army National Guard Officer Candidate School at Pikesville.

LA Matlick is a member of the local National Guard unit.

Water Show Today At Celanese Pool

A water show by beginning swimmers will be presented this evening at 7 p. m. at the Celanese pool under the direction of Raymond "Ike" Law, who instructed the youngsters.

The show will feature about 100 young swimmers between the ages of four and 15 who were taught to swim this summer by Mr. Law.

The program also will include Mr. Law's demonstration of how swimming was taught 40 years ago and his present method of teaching youngsters how to swim.

The performers are asked to be at the pool not later than 6:30 p. m. There is no admission charge for the show.

Card Party Tomorrow

The monthly card party for the benefit of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Ridgeley, will be held tomorrow in the basement of the church.

Yesterday Was Hottest Day Of Year

Mercury Climbs To 93-Degree Mark

Yesterday was the hottest day of the year, according to Robert R. Golden, official weather observer at Constitution Park.

Mr. Golden said the mercury climbed to the 93-degree mark, two degrees above the previous high of 91 degrees which was set on several other days this summer.

Downtown the temperature was unofficially recorded at 95 degrees yesterday at the Times-News Building and at 9:30 p. m. it still was 90 degrees.

However, the temperature has been dropping to the low 60s during the night for pleasant sleeping and a break from the hot, humid weather.

More of the same is forecast for today. The Weather Bureau calls for today to be mostly sunny and continued warm and humid.

The area also is becoming quite dry because of the lack of rainfall during the past two weeks.

According to records kept by Mr. Golden, the last measurable precipitation was recorded late Sunday night, August 14, and early the following morning when .63 inch fell.

The normal rainfall for this area for August is 3.48 inches.

Cancer Unit's Sheet Appeal Well Received

The recent appeal for old bed sheets by the Allegany County Chapter of the American Cancer Society has been well received, according to Mrs. Regina M. Cioni, secretary.

Mrs. Cioni said the Luther League of St. Paul's Church has made it a project to provide the chapter with old bed sheets to be used by needy cancer patients.

She added many individuals also have provided the chapter with sheets which will be most welcome because sheets used by cancer patients may be used only once and must be burned after use.

Mrs. Cioni said the chapter is most grateful for the contributions since the local unit has 87 patients, and about 30 of these require the bed sheets.

Persons interested in contributing old bed sheets may take them to county chapter headquarters at 128 Union Street between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. or arrange to have them picked up by calling the office at PA 2-2145 between those hours.

CAPT. WILLIAM BREHANY

Capt. Brehany Killed In Road Accident

Former Athlete Dies In N. Dakota

A Cumberland native who rose to national prominence in sports was killed Saturday when his sports car hit a gasoline truck on U. S. Route 2 near Larimore, North Dakota.

He was Capt. William Brehany, 29, who was recently assigned as service officer at Grand Forks (N. Dak.) Air Force Base.

Warrant Officer Robert L. Harding, on temporary duty at Grand Forks AFB from Truax Field, Madison, Wis., suffered a fractured jaw when he was hurled from the car Brehany was driving.

Both Brehany and Harding were thrown from the car, which was crushed under the rear wheels of the transport. The truck driver was not hurt.

Capt. Brehany returned to Cumberland in June for a 45-day leave after spending three years in Eueroux, France, and left here the first part of this month for the North Dakota base. He reported to the base on August 7.

Capt. Brehany was graduated from Ridgeley High School in 1948 and was rated one of the school's greatest all-around athletes.

In his senior year at Ridgeley High School he was presented the Knights of Columbus Sportsmanship Award.

After closing out his brilliant high school sports career, Capt. Brehany accepted a scholarship to Virginia Military Institute where he developed into an outstanding collegiate football performer.

In 1952, Capt. Brehany was the outstanding passer in the Southern Conference and also led the league in total offense as a quarterback. He was honored by being selected All-Conference and All-South by the Associated Press. He also received All-America honorable mention by the AP.

Capt. Brehany climaxed his brilliant sports career at VMI on June 10, 1953, when he was presented a trophy as the Institute's best all-around athlete in major sports. Although football was his best sport, Capt. Brehany also played basketball at VMI and was a pitcher on the Cadet baseball team.

He was graduated from VMI in June 1953 and received a commission as second lieutenant in the Air Force. He continued in service and planned to make it his career.

A native of Cumberland, he was born September 18, 1930, a son of John D. and Edith H. (Kelso) Brehany who reside in Carpenter's Addition in Ridgeley. He was a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Ridgeley.

Capt. Brehany was married to the former Miss Elizabeth (Betty) Scott Mills, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd (Peck) Mills, of 725 Fayette Street.

Besides his parents and widow, he is survived by a son, William Scott Brehany. Mrs. Brehany and their son remained here for a longer visit with her parents when he reported to his new assignment. The body will be brought here to the George Funeral Home.

To Address Club

C. Eugene Mason, director of the Recreation Department of Cumberland, will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

Md. Democrats Prepare Budget For Campaign

Leaders Meet At Ocean City

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP)—Maryland Democratic leaders met Sunday to prepare a campaign budget which would satisfy the party's congressional candidates.

Four of the seven incumbent congressmen and State Democratic Chairman Thomas B. Finan took time out from the final day of the summer convention of the United Democratic Women's Clubs of Maryland to hold the closed-door session.

The congressmen attending were Reps. Edward A. Garmatz of the 2nd District, George H. Fallon of the 4th, Richard E. Lankford of the 5th and Samuel N. Friedel of the 7th.

Finan said the purpose of the meeting was to "formulate an over-all state budget" for the 1960 general election campaign.

The pie to be sliced is made up of proceeds from a $100-a-plate dinner to be held Sept. 16 in Baltimore. The Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy, plans to attend.

At a party dinner earlier this month, there was an exchange of heated words about the money. It was touched off by Rep. Lankford's statement that he wanted to make sure congressional candidates got their share.

Finan said it already had been agreed how to divide the money and all that remained was deciding how it should be spent. The apparent feeling by some congressmen that they were being slighted at the expense of the national ticket, he said, was the result of a misunderstanding and not a fact at all.

Before the special meeting, each of the congressional candidates put in a plug that he be re-elected. All stressed the importance of voter registration.

Rep. Friedel made the point that each vote counted, saying he had lost a Baltimore City Council election in 1947 by only 12 votes.

Army Urging Young Men To Stay In School

The Army, through local and area recruiters and other Army stations, is urging young men and women to "stay in school and get diplomas of graduation," before trying to enlist.

M. Sgt. Virgil F. Smith said this message has come down through Army channels from the Department of the Army in Washington, and the Army is eager to place as much emphasis as possible on the importance of education.

Army officials point out that "in the complex society of which young people, particularly is becoming more and more important. Many jobs which only a few years ago were open to anyone, regardless of educational background, are now closed to persons not having a high school, or in some cases, a college education."

The Army, realizing the importance of educational opportunities, has instituted an educational program which is believed unparalleled in the nation's military history. In addition to opportunities offered by Army training programs, there are three Army roads to knowledge:

The first, the United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI) has enabled thousands of young men to finish their high school education and begin college level studies.

A second Army program enables young men to attend courses at many civilian schools and colleges in off-duty hours. It may surprise some, Sgt. Smith observed, to learn that an ambitious soldier can get a college degree by this method.

The third Army program is found in the education centers on hundreds of Army camps and posts. Here, soldiers are taught such subjects as typing, stenography, foreign languages, literature and numerous other subjects.

The Army now encourages every soldier to carry his studies as far as he desires.

"The better educated, the more qualified and further advanced a man is when he enlists in the United States Army, the higher the level of training he can qualify for."

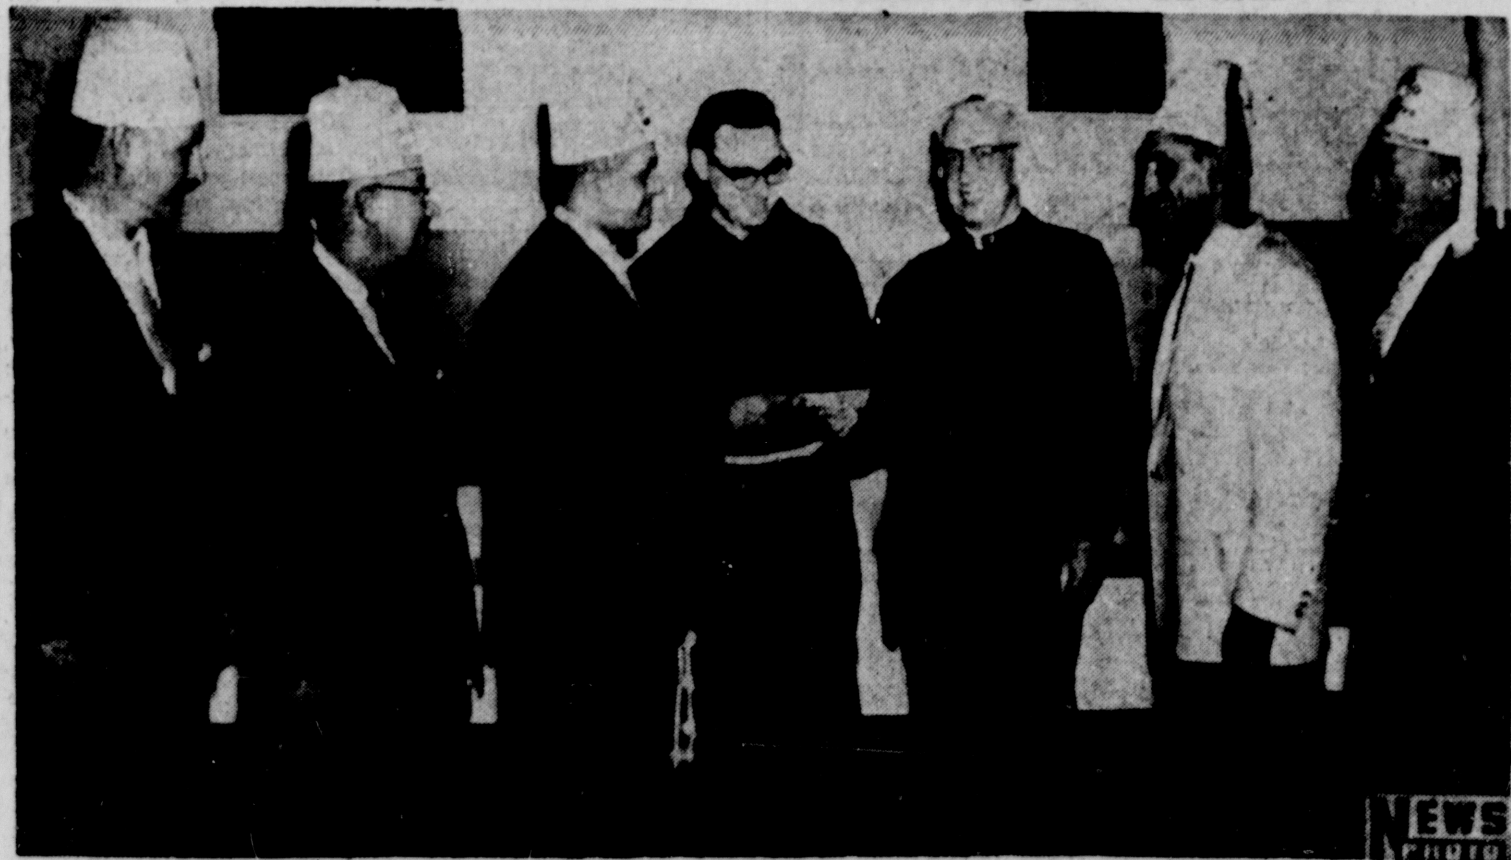

"The Army needs qualified men and women to step into training in electronics, guided missiles, radio operation and many other technical fields. Prerequisites to these specialties are high school background, preferably before enlistment. The Army needs high school graduates and not people who have become bored with their high school classes."

"In fact the Army is no longer a dumping ground for misfits or those not interested in the fullest possible education."

This explains the reason, Sgt. Smith said, why "we in the Second United States Army Recruiting District have adopted the slogan—'A Smart Move... Graduate... Then Go Army!'"

Blood Collection Due

The Red Cross Bloodmobile from Johnstown, Pa., will visit the Amcreek plant of Celanese Fibers Company Tuesday, September 6. There will be no public blood collection in Cumberland next month.

St. Anthony's Gets Check

Joseph T. Sirna, third from left, presents a check for $1,000 to Rev. Robert Kilgannon for the benefit of St. Anthony's church in Ridgeley, where Father Kilgannon is pastor. The check represents money raised by Wamba Caravan 89, Order of The Alhambra, of which Mr. Sirna is grand commander. Looking on are (center) Rev. DePaul Ripko, O.F.M. Cap., and past commanders Joseph Love, Sylvester Shircliff, Peter J. Carpent, district commander, and Michael McDade.
